And There Was Light. . .

With the sun arose the dawn to light the day and melt the darkness and suddenly so much can be seen in its simplicity
Another day, a, new life to chase away the yesterdays that bother and beguile Mirror like images are reflected in its rays
And a brighter image comes into focus.

Different Activities Create Various Moods

Expression Displays Changing Moods

Then There Was Light. . . And God Said: 'That's Good'

. . . then there was light . . .
 strawberry lights that glimmer
 like soda pop rain
 neon lights giving off a godly glow in the sky
 all the colors of the rainbows that ever were or ever could be;
 blinking on and off
 like wings of a butterfly, darkness
 of the night
 sweeps over the days
 but there is light
 to keep it alive
 until the red glow of the dawn appears and warms the earth
 with its brightness;
 then it leaves
 melted drops in the heavens to act as stars
 so that a child may glance up and see God's lighted eternity, and wonder at a world of make-believe that seems so near
 in a moonlit dream, even the daisies within a heart
 glow lighted smiles—
 then there was light . . .
 and God said,
 "That's good"

Responsibilities Expand CC Personalities

The inspiration behind the principle of Catholic education in the area is His Excellency Leo A. Pursley, Bishop of Fort Wayne-South Bend. He has constantly shown his interest in CC through the years. His picture appears above.

Most Reverend Monsignor William Lester, superintendent of schools, was once principal of CC.

Guiding Light Shown by Administration

The "go" signal concerning the newly formed Student Council was given by Father Hammond. As we see in the picture to the left, Father puts a lot of thinking into matters concerning us and our school policies.

As leader in the school, Father has to make sure that everything is running smoothly so that students can benefit.

Sister Maureen Therese is seen in the picture below deep in serious thought. Sister assists Father Hammond in the policies of the school.

In the picture below to the left, we see Sister in a different mood. It looks like she is quite happy after a hard day's work.

Dean of Boys, Dedicated Men, Show Leadership

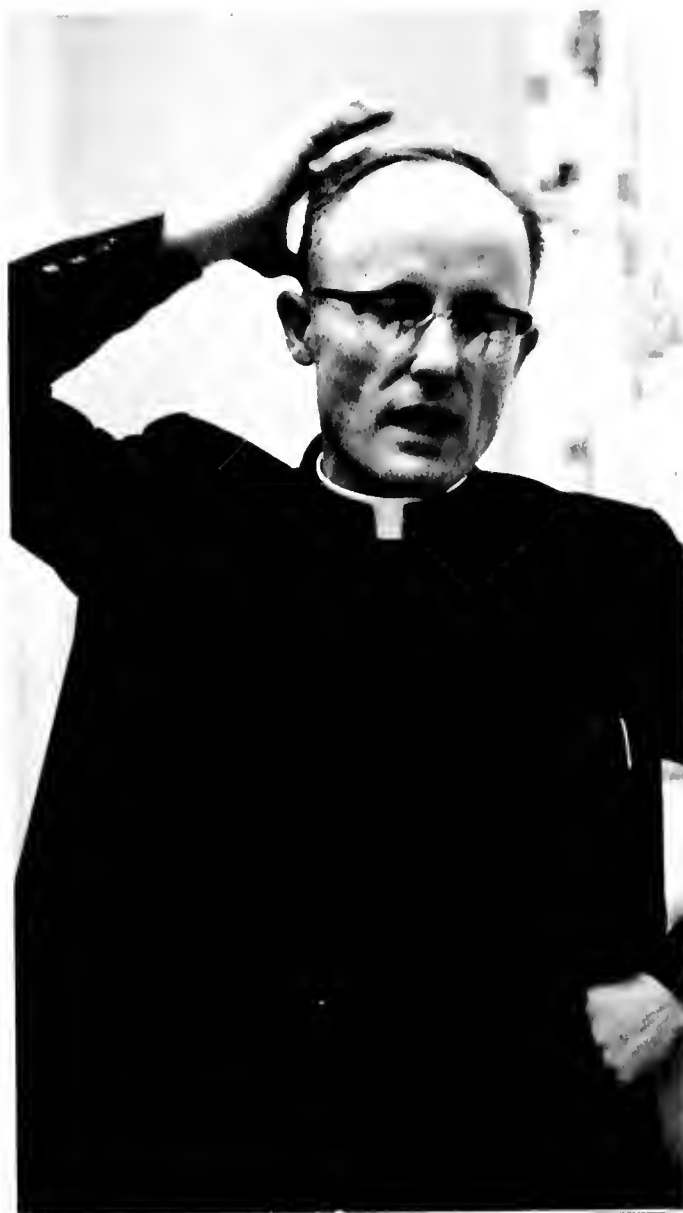

One of Central Catholic's strongest assets is the group of dedicated men who are on the job to aid and direct CC students.

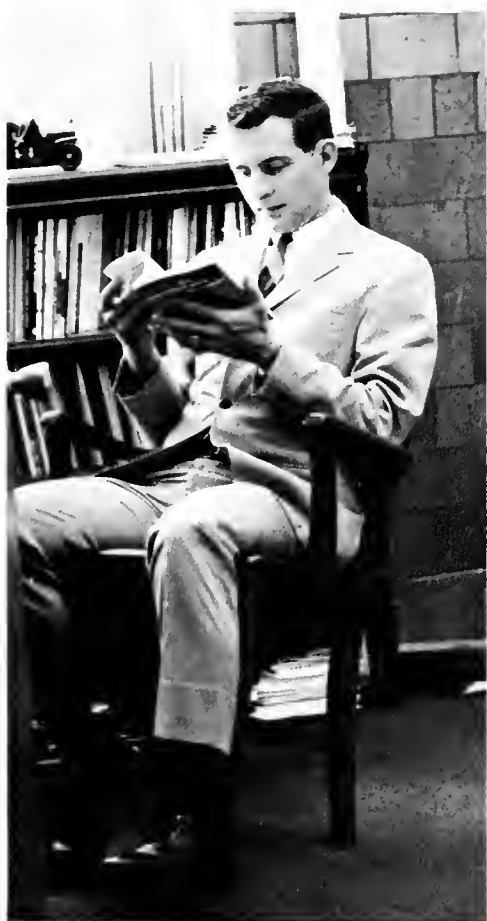

Fr. Henry Mascotte, Dean of Boys and Spiritual Director, is pictured at the right. This has been Father's first year at CC.

Mr. Carl Alter, business manager, is pictured below. Also is seen a picture of Father Hammond as he handles the activities of his busy day.

On the opposite page is Mr. Leon Youngpeter, assistant to Father Hammond and head of the Athletic Department.

At the lower right are two pictures of Mr. Richard Hersha, guidance counsellor. CC students have found the guidance office a place for sound advice and interested listening.

Mrs. Roller, Mrs. Ocken, Assist Administration Students Get Aid From Secretaries

In any school as large as Central Catholic, the administration needs the dedicated assistance supplied by Mrs. Roller and Mrs. Ocken.

Mrs. Bette Roller, secretary to Fr. Hammond in the first floor office, spends endless hours of time and energy helping to keep the written work, correspondence, and general business activities involved with the principal's office flowing. She is pictured below.

Mrs. Bernice Ocken, whose picture appears at the right, is the secretary to Sister Maureen Therese, assistant principal at Central Catholic.

Mrs. Ocken works in the second floor office, helping keep the machinery of the big high school moving at an even pace.

Both these women have given years of dedicated service to CC, and the faculty, administration, and students are very grateful to them.

Laura Nagy assists in the second floor office.

Mrs. Robbins Heads Cafeteria Workers

From early in the morning until late in the afternoon the cafeteria workers and the janitors served the student body in their fullest capacity.

Planning, preparing and dishing out meals to the students and faculty was only a part of the job that the ladies in the Clinton Room accomplished during this past year. They constantly saw to it that the kitchen was kept in tip-top shape. The dining area was carefully inspected and cleaned daily under the supervision of the cooks.

Our maintenance crews helped greatly by cleaning the halls and rooms, but their duties did not end there. Heating and lighting were a result of their abilities and often they were called upon to fix broken objects.

Assuming charge of the Clinton Room and its workers annually is Mrs. Frances Robbins.

Likewise Mr. Ron Fisher is responsible for the janitors. He must check the order of the school from top to bottom.

Mrs. Frances Robbins poses with her crew of workers in the Clinton Room. They are Audrey Sanders, Dorothy Walke, Louise Seibt, Margaret Gerke, Vera Schlink, and Mrs. Robbins.

Mr. Fisher Guides Maintenance

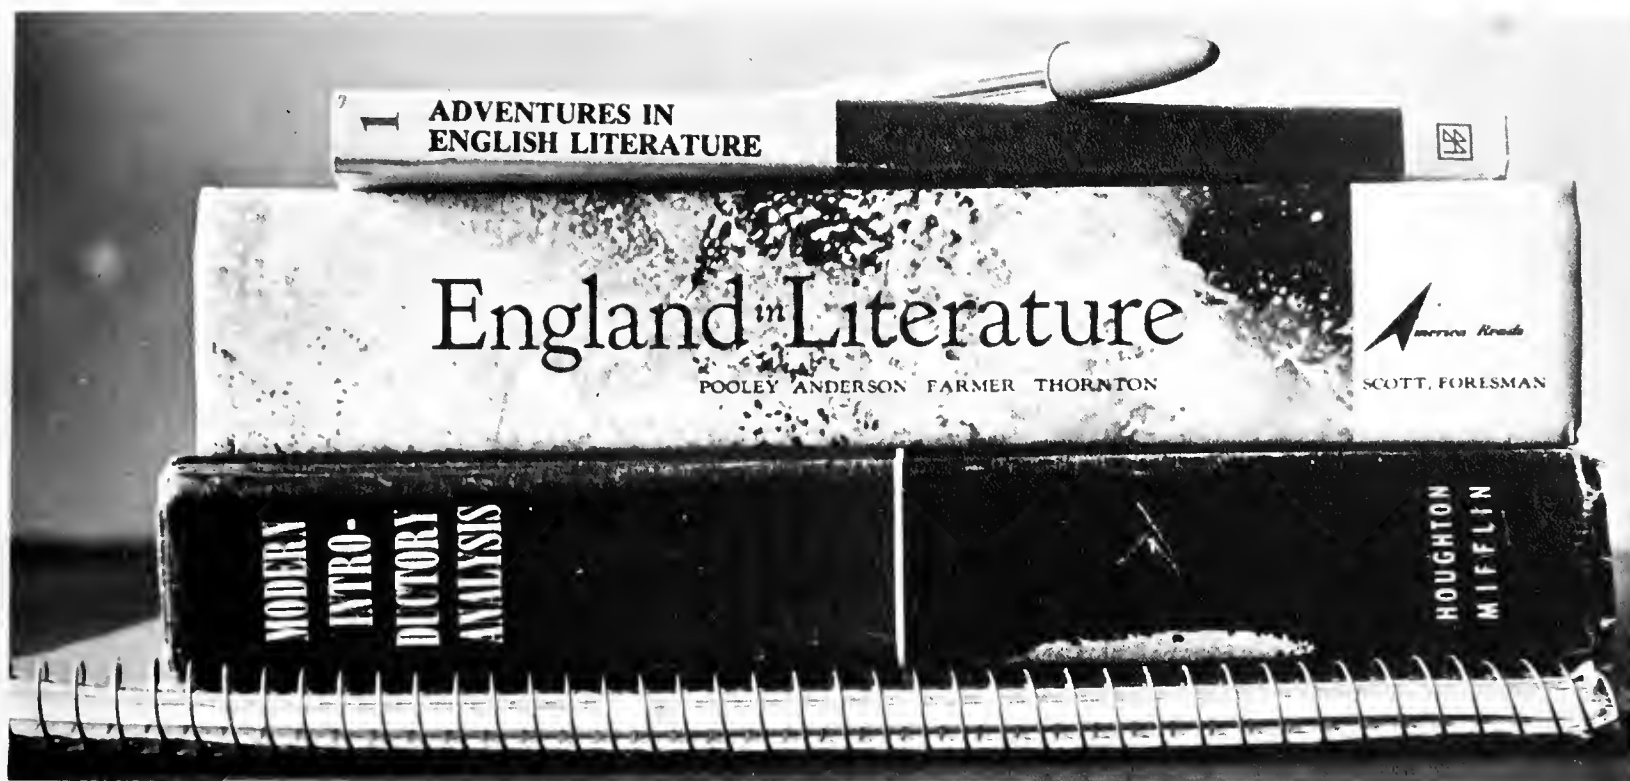

Maintenance men Mr. John Diamente, Mr. Earl Schmitt, and Mr. Ron Fisher stop for a moment from their busy schedule. Mr. Fisher and Joe Lewis, a junior, are seen in a familiar place, at the Clinton Room door.

ACADEMICS

Again there is light. . .

to open new worlds to another generation of promise and opportunity,
to strengthen the need for accomplishment and fight off ignorance with simplicity, to bridge the gap between the peoples of all lands and find in our minds more peace and joy than the world has ever known before.
The light is there to pass through the walls of time and discover the fifth dimension of communication.
For this is the most important of all—to learn, the hardest of all—to keep, and the most rewarding of all—to feel
it will last forever.

English

English Classes Stress Depth

The four year English course consists of various studies. During freshman and sophomore years, the students receive a broad view of literature and grammar. Juniors and seniors are engrossed with a thorough understanding of American and English literature respectively.

English has taken on a new perspective this year through the use of films. By seeing these movies, discussions on mood, theme, and characterization come easily.

Studying dramatics has brought forth an appreciation of talent such as students enacting parts of plays.

Another means of learning can be demonstrated by interpreting modern art and literature. This serves to link the old with the new.

Heading the English Department this year is Sister Ann Colette. Her days are spent teaching senior English. Monthly she meets with the other English teachers in order to coordinate their programs and discuss activities that will be both educational and enjoyable.

English is one of the most comprehensive subjects taught in the Central Catholic curriculum. Mr. Alois Buchheit, junior English teacher, appears at the left. Don Kline, a senior, concentrates on a composition above. Mrs. Charlene Holly decorates her room with the help of a student, below left. In the lower right corner, Sister Mary Leah is shown preparing for her presentation of "Our Town".

Math

Advanced Study Helps Teachers Pursue Program of Excellence

Members of the Mathematics Department this year brought much knowledge with them from summer school sessions in advanced study in various universities around the country.

Sister Joseph Helen, head of the department, returned from study at St. Louis University.

Other members of the Math Department have been Sister Ann Carita, Mr. John Garvin, Mr. Ed Morris, Mrs. Carolyn Ravioli, Miss Donna Giere, and Sister Julie.

The honors program is in use at Central Catholic, and many students took advantage of the increased study and emphasis on new topics presented.

Some of the subjects presented in senior math this year were vectors, and several aspects of trigonometry and calculus.

Ralph Banasiak and Phyllis Le-moine, two sophomores who participated in a special math program during the summer, returned to work with Sister Ann Carita in developing their especially sharp math skills.

Sister Joseph Helen, speaking of the math program at CC, said, "I feel we are moving ahead in many directions."

$$(m-n)(m-n)(m+n) \\ = (m^2 - 2mn + n^2)(m+n) \\ = m^3 - 2m^2n + mn^2 - mn^2 + 2mn^2 - n^3 \\ = m^3 - 2mn^2 + 2mn^2 - n^3 = m^3 - n^3$$

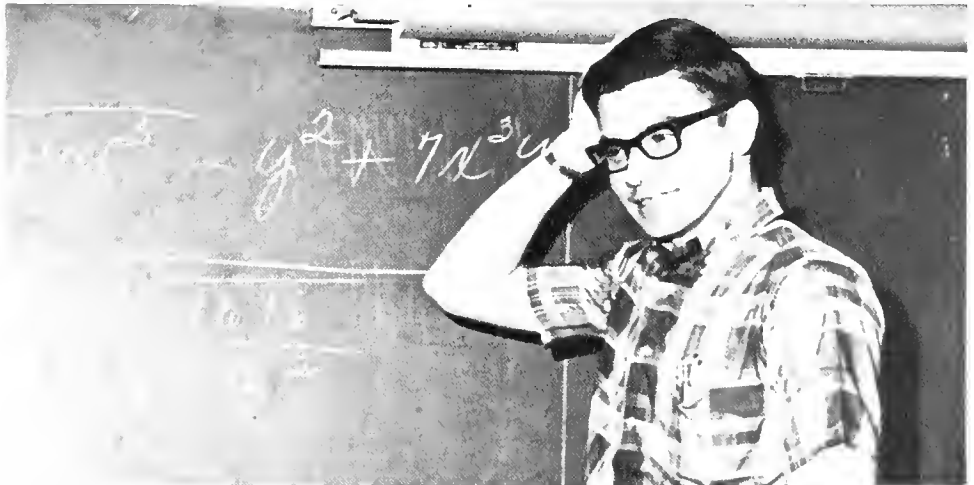

New Mathematics Challenges CC'ers

Nancy Somers, a senior, works out a problem on her slide rule. Miss Donna Giere appears at the lower left, while Mr. Ed Morris is seen at the immediate left.

Languages

The Accent Is on Excellence

It was a strong year for the various classes in the Language Department.

Putting the accent on excellence, the members of the Latin classes, under the direction of Sister Mary Teresa and Sister Cecilia Marie, worked hard.

Mr. Martin Tierney, head of the Spanish Department, again made use of his travels in South America and the experience he gained there to enrich the members of his classes. Mrs. Maxine Hartman, also returning to Central Catholic for her second year, also taught Spanish.

Coming to CC from Massachusetts, Sister Francis Michael brought much enthusiasm and her excellent teaching methods. Teaching most of her classes in French, she made a deep impression on her students and encouraged many to pursue their studies.

Various projects were undertaken in the classes to keep interest and the will to keep studying alive. A Latin Day was held by students in November.

Sister Francis Michael teaches French in Room 401.

Mr. Martin Tierney, head of the Spanish Department, ponders life from the roof.

Caught in a happy mood are Mr. Tierney, the Spanish club officers, and members of the third year Spanish class. In the front row are Tom McCutcheon, Viala Rodriguez, Steve Johns, Marsha Neuhaus, Margaret Rasswurm, Rita Escabeda, Maria Male, Ron Harber, Barb Kaough. Row two contains Tom Forbing, Mike Schnurr, Sue Kiester, Sue Coffee, Linda Fleckenstein and Debbie Plumb. In the back row are Mr. Tierney, Dave Hueber, Pete Fisher, Andy Marciniak, Tom Ebetino, Jim Jordan, and Charlie Steinau.

Mrs. Hartman has spent her second year teaching Spanish at Central Catholic.

Taking delight in some fine French conversation are Bill Van Rooyen and Kathie Berger, senior French students of Sister Francis Michael. Nancy Samers and Amy Kelly appear behind them.

Sister Mary Teresa divided her time this year between the library and two Latin classes.

Sister Cecilia Marie, at the left, taught Freshman Latin classes this year. In the picture below Diane Miller, Latin Club president, shows pictures of her summer in Italy to Sister Mary Teresa and other Latin club officers Ralph Banasiak, vice-president; Peggy Schnelker, treasurer; and Mary Beth Imler, secretary.

Teachers Take New Direction

The Religion Department of Central Catholic underwent some changes this year, under the direction of Father Hammond and Father Henry Mascotte, the head of the department.

Quarter evaluations replaced the grading system, and students had conferences with their teachers to determine the progress which was being made.

Most students felt this was a big step forward. They had a chance to get to know their teachers and talk with them about things on a personal level.

The Religion Department was composed of Father Mascotte, Sister Francis Michael, Mr. Youngpeter, Sister Michele, Sister Andrew, Sister Mary Leah, Mr. Foley, Mr. Shank, Sister Joel, Father Kuzmich, Father Koers, Father Carkenord, Father Tirabassi, Father Gillig, Father Blank, Father Durkin, Mr. Keith Miller, and Father Patterson.

Class discussions and the discovery method were used in many of the classes, along with lectures on theology and Christian doctrine.

Father Dave Carkenord stops outside the Guidance Office.

Father Henry Mascotte, head of the Religion Department, ponders a schedule while Father John Kuzmich looks on.

Mr. Thomas Foley prepares class in the library. Pictured at the right are members in a class discussion. These religion students are Dan Sackash, Barb Bracht, Elyse Manuel, Karolina Baszczak, and Mike Horn.

Evaluations Give Personal Assistance

On their way to a meeting of religion teachers are Father Patrick Durkin, freshman teacher, and Father Camilla Tirabassi, also a teacher of freshmen.

Father Jerry Gillig ponders a point on his way to class.

Sister Julie, head of the Chemistry Department, smiles for the Echo camera.

Science

New Teachers— New Ideas

The Science Department found itself with several new teachers this year, and a new program of study.

Heading the Chemistry Department was Sister Julie, who also worked during the year to take graduate study, while holding down her usual teaching schedule.

Two new faces in the Biology Department were Sister Therese Michele and Sister Francis Therese. Sister Paul Michael started the school year, but was transferred to Providence English College in Taiwan, where she became head of the Chemistry Department.

Biology classes were taught in a much different way; living things were used as much as possible, and the discovery approach was used. Students were very impressed with the miracle of life, as it was presented by their teachers.

Chemistry classes studied such things as physical properties of metal and chemical reactions.

Mr. David Lindahl taught physical science.

Sister Francis Therese, biology teacher, pauses on her way to class.

Pat Murphy and Ron Poff wait for the action to start in a chemistry experiment. Sister Julie and Sister Francis Therese taught this subject.

Sister Therese Michele, head of the Biology Department, is wondering what sophomore Jim Orth is finding on his slide.

Physics

Central Offers Physics Class

Since Central Catholic's faculty did not include a physics teacher this year, several seniors obtained permission to enroll in some of Central High School's three physics classes.

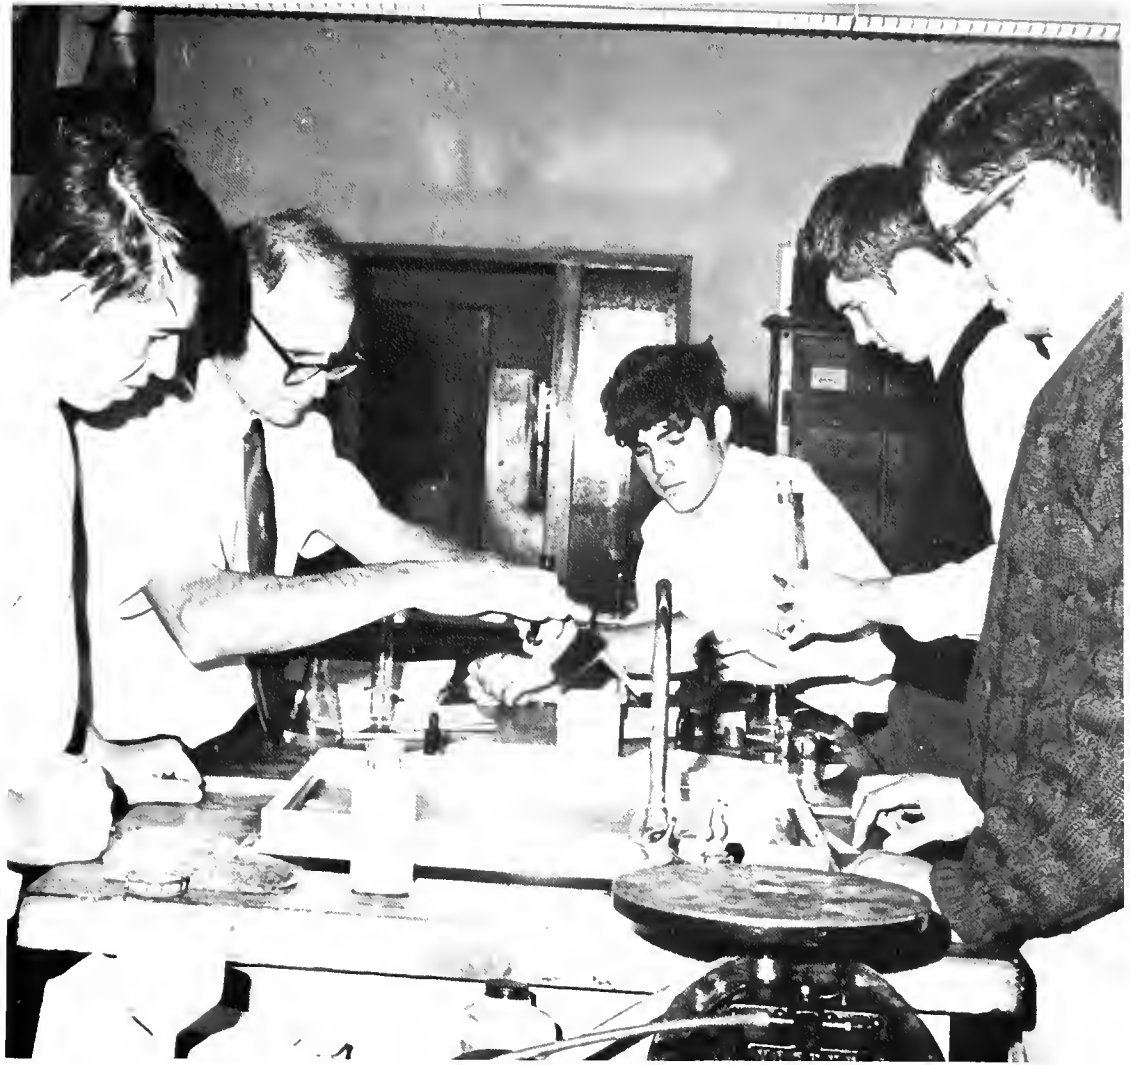

Teaching the class was Mr. Bernard Richardville, a member of Central's teaching staff for four years. Besides teaching physics, he taught chemistry and applied physics.

Because physics is not part of the Industrial Arts program, the five senior girls who enrolled in the class became the first CC girls to participate in Central classes.

Some of the scientific aspects stressed in the class were laws of motion, nature of light, and gas laws.

This class showed the strong cooperation between Central Catholic, and its neighbors across the street.

Involved in a Physics experiment are Jim Gerhard, Mr. Richardville, Tim Derloshon, Andy Marciniak, and Pat Zent.

Mr. David Lindahl, physical science teacher, appears above. Sister Therese Michele, Kate Daak and Sue Conrad work in the Biology Lab at the left.

Home Ec

Girls Learn Foods, Clothing

Under the guidance of Sister Alice, the sophomore, junior and senior girls are taught the many skills of home-making.

During sophomore year Sister teaches the girls to sew basic clothing such as skirts, blouses and dresses. Then, in the second semester the girls change to cooking.

At the start of the junior year the girls take up from where they left off the previous year. The latter part of the year is spent in learning the advanced part of sewing. Many girls tackle outfits such as lined suits and coats.

The final year, senior girls develop their personalities while learning about home management. Many discussions on dating and the engagement period are held. Also, senior girls are given the many aspects of married life and raising a family.

Thanks to Sister Alice, home ec students emerge as young women who can easily cope with the many problems which arise in domestic life.

Mr. Blackburn hangs finished still lifes in an Art Dept. display while Sheri Neuhaus applies finishing touches to her ceramics project, below.

Art Art Department Moves Ahead

The Art Department was under new leadership this year, with Mr. Blackburn in charge.

The new teacher was assisted by Father Henry Mascotte, who taught a class in advanced art.

There were many projects undertaken by the art students. One of the most popular was the redesigning and building of the Clancy head. After many long hours of tearing paper and more serious work, Clancy made his debut at the beginning of the basketball season.

The art department kept the main bulletin board in the third hall decorated with work from the art classes, and art students also helped make posters during the sports seasons to help keep team and school spirit high.

Mr. Blackburn and Father Mascotte instructed the art students in the various techniques available to artists in these modern times. There were many times when new and different methods were used, much to the excitement and surprise of the classes.

Social Studies

Sister Vincent Marie Heads Social Studies Department

The Social Studies Department consists of the World Culture, U. S. History and Government courses.

During freshman year the students engage in a compact study of the major countries of the world. The subject matter includes, the geography of the area, the people, the products and most important the form of government.

A thorough study of U. S. History provides the juniors with a knowledge of the past events of our nation. The discovery, the founding and the wars participated in by our country are only a few of the significant points which are taught.

It is essential that everyone knows and understands just exactly how their government works. Through the government course the seniors learn about the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of our government.

Adding to the material taught are the current events of the day which strike our country as well as the world.

Sister Vincent Marie, head of the Social Studies Department, appears at the top left. Opposite her is Mr. Joseph McPhie. Mr. Poul Miller is at the lower left.

Winding up a panel discussion in History class are Charlie Maydwell, Jim Broucek, Mike Bangert and Keith Bobay.

Panel Discussions Offer Opportunities for Insight

Pat Kelker conducts a discussion at the top left, while Sister Michele, U. S. History teacher, answers a question at the top right. Mrs. Donna Jones conducts a world culture class above; Diane Ealing works on an assignment at the right.

Music

CC Musicians Work to Play

The Music Department of CC consists of four main groups. First, as a regular class, is the String Orchestra. They met five days a week in the Band Room, preparing for their two main concerts of the year, and developing dexterity on their varying instruments.

Next in line is the Band, also a daily class. But they had many more activities during the school year. They have two sides: the Golden Shamrock Marching Band which participated at game half-times, and the Symphonic Band, which played for three concerts.

Concert Choir is the last of the regularly scheduled classes. For fifty-five minutes they developed their voices for the two concerts.

Last is the Varsity Chorus, which met after school on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Although this counts as a grade, no honor points can be received. They combine with the Concert Choir to add their bit of musical variety.

Mr. Joseph Woods, music instructor, takes time out from work at the left. Pictured above is Marianne Bonham. Kathy Braun is at the lower left. Part of the brass section practices below.

Business

Speed Makes Fingers Fly

The fourth floor of Central Catholic is the home of several departments; one of the largest is the Business Department.

Under the leadership of Sister Mary Roberta and Sister Mary Constance, the business classes progressed through the year, learning record keeping, shorthand, and all the intricacies of typing.

A large keyboard at the front of the Typing Room serves to help students who are still unsure of where the fingers should fly next.

Timings and speed drills are all part of the action in class. Five minute tests and one minute tests keep students on their toes.

Both teachers make use of progress charts to help keep students motivated as they pursue typing skills.

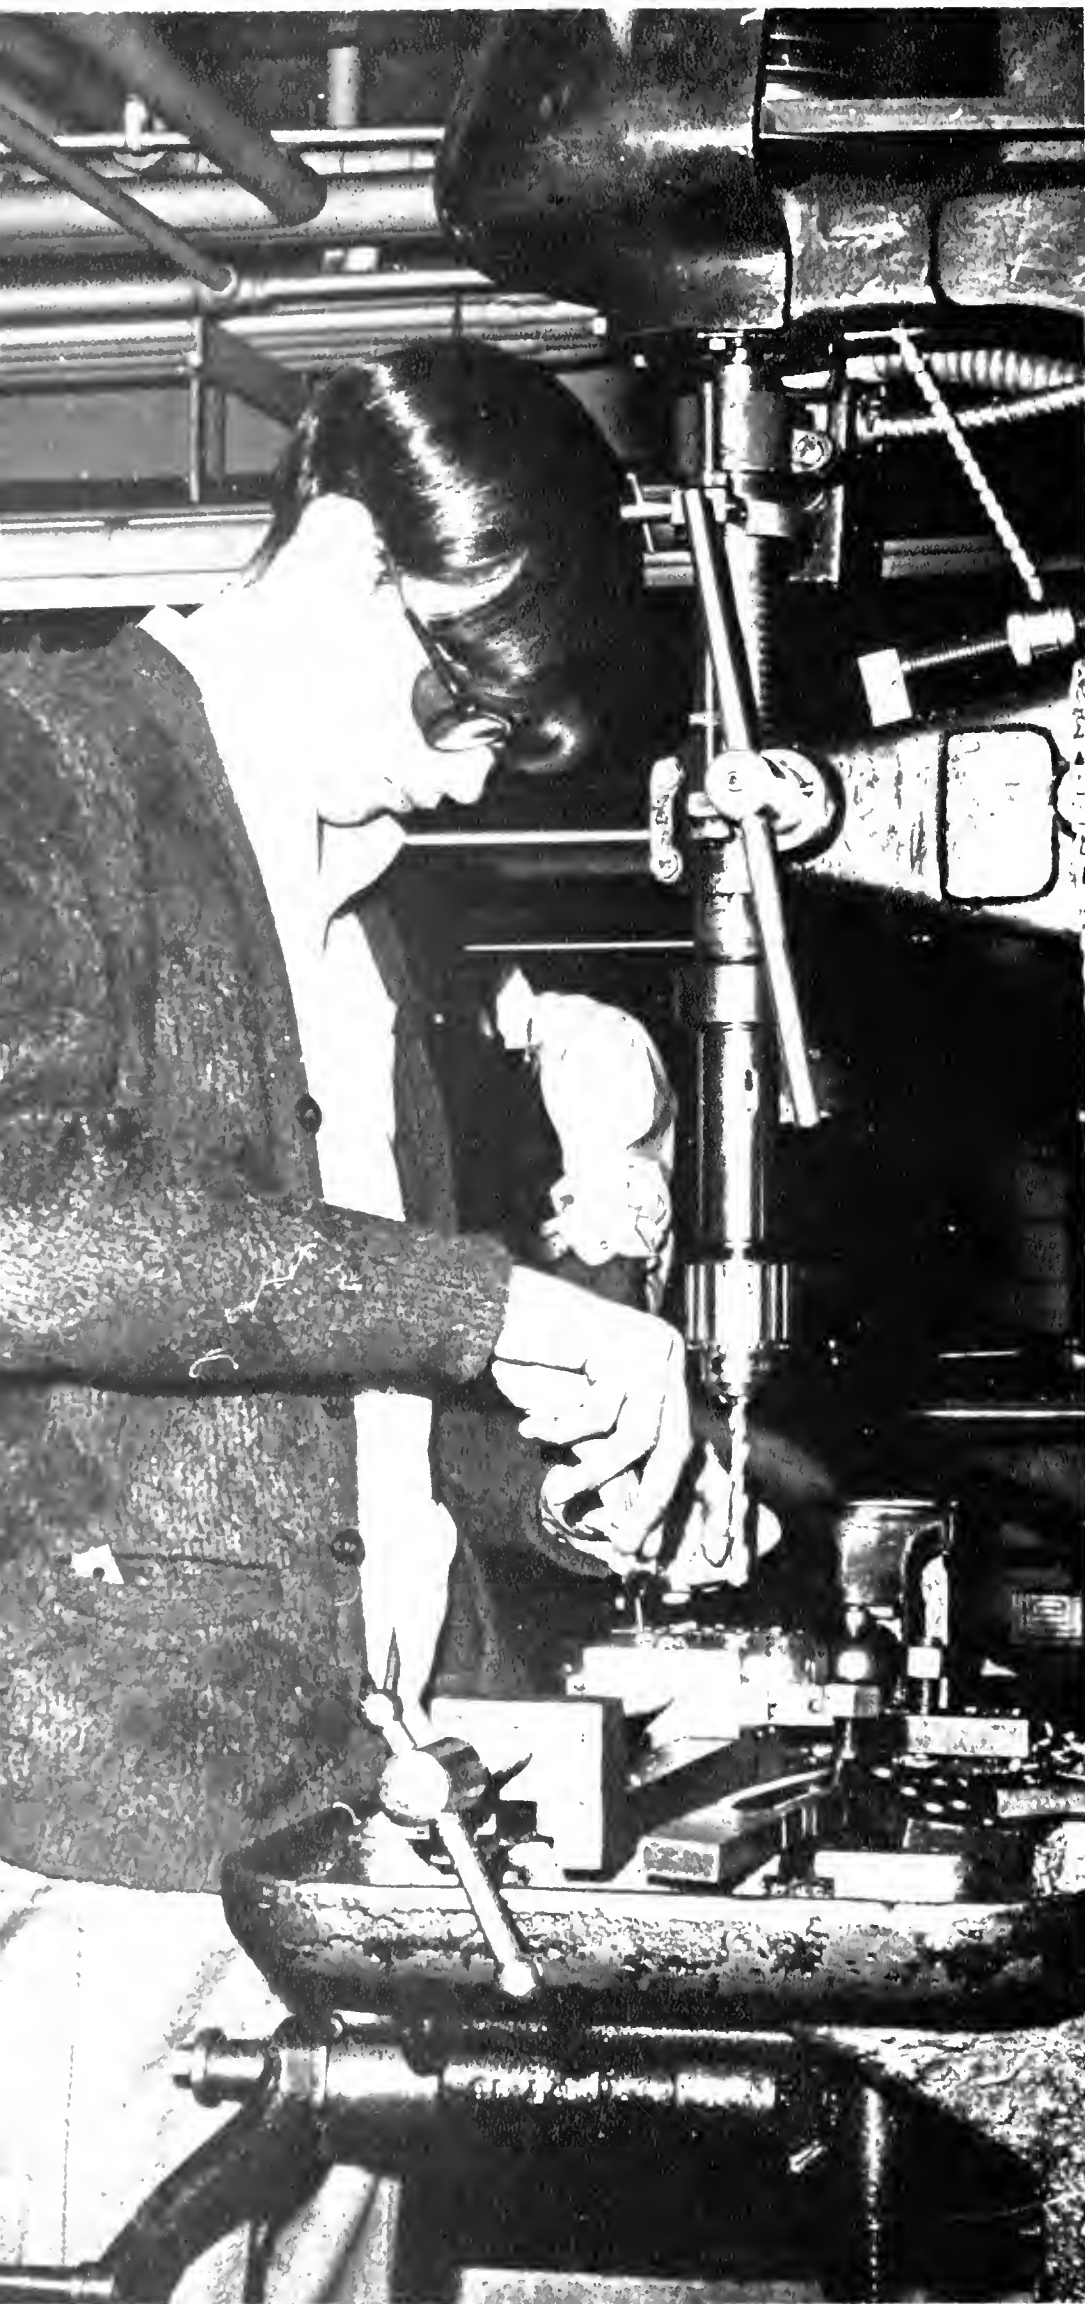

Business letters and other forms are taught, with boys and girls learning the correct business procedures to use.

Many students already in jobs using skills they are learning are at work in the Fort Wayne area.

Central Teachers Present Industrial Arts

Boys from Central Catholic were again privileged to study with the Industrial Arts Department of Central High School.

Working with the neighbors across the street, the dedicated men of the department instructed CC'ers in various shop classes.

Mr. Yager taught machine shop, Mr. Piepenbrink taught ICT Drafting, while Mr. O'Brien instructed the boys in welding, machine shop, and auto mechanics.

Mr. Todd, the department head, also presided over a drafting class.

Mr. Richard Rian taught wood-working, while Mr. Herman taught drafting and electricity.

Mr. Surber met the CC boys for a class in automotives.

Central Catholic boys were enthusiastic in their praise of the classes they have taken at Central. Bonds cementing the friendly relationship between the two schools were strengthened.

Central Industrial Arts teachers pose with Mr. Todd, the department head. In the front row are Mr. Rian, Mr. Herman, and Mr. Surber. Behind them are Mr. Yager, Mr. Piepenbrink, Mr. O'Brien, and Mr. Todd.

The mainstay of the girls' physical education department is Miss Julia Heighway.

Phys Ed

Mr. Edwards Joins Staff

The Physical Education classes again did much to build up the morale and physical fitness of the underclassmen.

Miss Julia Heighway did her usual great job of conducting the girls' phys ed classes. She also conducted the GAA volleyball tournament during the month of November, and encouraged the girls in many different ways.

Coming to teach boys' phys ed, as well as two classes of world culture, was Mr. Don Edwards. He also coached the freshman basketball team, and was the faculty sponsor of the freshman football squad.

Physical Education classes for the boys stressed development of coordination, and building up the body.

Calisthenics and different types of exercises made up a good portion of the classes. Some exercises from the government Physical Fitness Program were used, and students learned that Miss Heighway and Mr. Edwards were very much determined to keep students of Central Catholic at the peak of their physical condition.

Mr. Don Edwards came to teach physical education this year.

Drivers Education

Mr. Anderson Helps Educate CC Drivers

For the second year in the history of the school, Driver Education has been part of the curriculum.

Taught by Mr. Brent Anderson and other members of the CC faculty, the class is open to all students who are eligible for working toward their driving permits.

Most CC'ers take the class near the end of their freshman year. There are, however, members from the sophomore, junior, and sometimes even the senior class enrolled in it.

After intensive study in the classroom, students are allowed to begin their test driving. They must spend six hours in the car, actually driving through the city streets. Once the time has been put in, the boys and girls are on their own. Many put in additional time working in cars belonging to their families, once permits have been secured.

Mr. Anderson gives pointers on the motor to Al Madru and Michele Brewer.

Adviser to the Shamrock and the Echo is Sister Joel. She is in charge of the Journalism Department.

Communications

Journalism Class Opens Door to Communications Industry

The Journalism Department moved into new fields again this year, with development and deeper learning of skills the goal of the members.

Led by Sister Joel, the members of the Journalism class learned the elements of newspaper and yearbook work, as well as the different qualities of work done in radio, television, and magazines.

Juniors and seniors from this class joined the staffs of the Shamrock, and did much to put together this copy of the Echo.

Several members of the class journeyed to the Palmer House in Chicago over Thanksgiving. There they attended the NSPA convention of high school journalists.

One of the things stressed this year in class was a better quality and deeper pursuit of news writing. Sister Joel said she felt the standards of both the Shamrock and the Echo had risen considerably. This, she felt, was at least partly due to the enthusiasm and attempt for excellence which so many of the students showed throughout the year.

Juniors Work on Publications

Sue Kiester reacts to a good idea, above. At the right Dave Hueber, John Eakin, Dan Leffers and Mike Bangert review the South Side Times.

Teachers Contribute Talent

Sister Paul Michael was on the faculty before her transfer to Taiwan.

Father John Kuzmich teaches sophomore religion.

Mr. Keith Miller teaches Freshman English and Religion during afternoons.

Another sophomore religion teacher this year has been Father Eugene Kaers.

Father Denis Blank worked with seniors who were taking the course on marriage.

Conducting the marriage seminar this year is Father Robert Patterson.

ACTIVITIES

And there was light. . .

that breathes, and laughs,
and sings, and dances,
and plays as reflections in the mirrors.

With these moments come new memories that beat on the pulse, beat on the times, gathering the soft impressions
blowing in the breeze, daisies and daffodils and
laughter,
and the grassy knolls and yellow fields where we passed—

Shouting, running, jumping, trying to make each moment
count,
And all the while growing
together,
With the thoughts that we will move on,
separately,
but not alone.

Student Council Becomes a Reality at Central Catholic

Most probably the most profound achievement of this year was the forming of a Student Council, CC's first.

Efforts began last summer with the class of '69 as they organized a series of meetings during which plans were made and a blueprint for a constitution began to take form.

After the school year got under way, a constitutional committee was formed in order to revise the constitution. The next step was the election of officers. The results were Chuck Steinau, president; Dave Hueber, vice-president; Julie Hueber, secretary; John Palmer, treasurer.

Other members of the Student Council include the class officers, and one representative from each home-room. The Freshmen were allowed no vote in the Council for the first semester, instead they had observers. The second semester, however, the Frosh had elected their class officers and were finally able to take part in the school government.

Aside from the students, every organization needs adult advisors so Sister Frances Michael was put in charge of the Student Council. Other advisors attending the meetings included the class moderators, Mr. Tierney, juniors; Mr. Murphy, sophomores and Sister Ann Carita, freshmen.

The Council sponsored many activities during the year since it took over the responsibilities of the former Service Club, but also had many other duties including that of establishing a stable organization in preparation for the future classes of the school.

Among the Student Council's many aims are those of unifying classes improving student-teacher relationships, and most of all to give students the opportunity to voice their opinions in school affairs.

Both the administration and the faculty of Central Catholic have been enthusiastic the formation of the Student Council.

Father Hammond worked with Charlie Steinau and the other seniors at the beginning of the year.

Sister Andrew, voicing the feelings of most faculty members, said, "I think this will help our young people grow in responsibility and maturity."

John Palmer, Student Council treasurer, looks efficient.

Leading the newest organization in the school are the officers of the Central Catholic student Council. Dave Hueber, a junior, is vice-president. Seated next to him is senior Chuck Steinau, the president. Julie Hueber, a sophomore, is the secretary. Dave Bierbaum, also a senior, is the social chairman.

Leaders Urge All-Around Involvement

In a year of much progress and new ideas, the Student Council, with its members and the faculty moderators, did much to channel the new into a workable framework in which tradition and the good things which have gone into CC were not discarded.

Sister Francis Michael, faculty moderator, worked with Charlie Steinau and other seniors on the Student Council to keep enthusiasm and leadership high in this first year of the Council's functioning.

The Council undertook many projects during the year, the first being the Thanksgiving Dance, held Nov.

Junior class adviser to the Council was Mr. Martin Tierney, while Mr. Robert Murphy assisted the sophomore council members.

Freshman class officers and home-room representatives were assisted by Sister Ann Carita, freshman moderator.

A great majority of CC students were generous in their praise of the work done by the Council.

Preparing for the pep session before the South game are seniors Kathe Knapp, Marsha Neuhaus, and Bette Jansen.

Junior Andy Barile swings into a number at the Thanksgiving Dance. The Herd, of which Andy is a member, played for the hop in the CC gym.

Getting in on the action are Mary Ja Johnson and Marita Oetting.

Keefer, 1967 Queen; Marsha Neuhaus, Cathy Craighead and Sharon Johnson.

While the Irish team sweats through an anxious moment, Cloncy whips up a little of that spirit among the fans.

September Bonfire Marks Third Homecoming

CC's third annual homecoming for the '68-'69 season took place during the weekend of September 27 and 28.

The kick-off of the first of many events was the bright bonfire which enlightened all of Irish country.

Cheerleaders led the cheers and Rick McGrew and Steve Kohrman urged fans to sing a few songs.

Humor also played a part at the fiesta as Tom Roehling led the homecoming court's dance. Tom seemed to have a little trouble in adjusting to his unusual attire which caused a laughing hysteria.

The highlight of the evening was the announcing of the homecoming court. Holding the honor were seniors, Michele Brewer, Marsha Neuhaus, and Viola Rodriguez; and juniors, Cathy Craighead and Sharon Johnson.

The fun lasted till 6:30 Saturday.

Preparations were being made for the parade from CC to Zollner Stadium. The court, the cheerleaders, and the float were accompanied by prominent seniors. Sister Francis Michael made the journey, also.

Halftime brought anxiety for CC fans as the band put on a display celebrating the occasion. The court and the float circled the stadium landing in front of Irish territory. Quickly sounds and voices hushed, tension mounted, and then Father Hammond announced Viola Rodriguez as 1968 homecoming queen. Becky Keefer, last year's queen, had the honor of crowning Viola.

The final stage of excitement was concluded during the dance in CC's gym. A special dance drew the crowd's attention as the court danced to the music of "The Story."

Pictured at the bottom left, Linda Gerhardstein accompanies Tom Roehling. And bottom right, the burning bonfire at the festivities Friday night.

Graduation Climaxes Search For Excellence

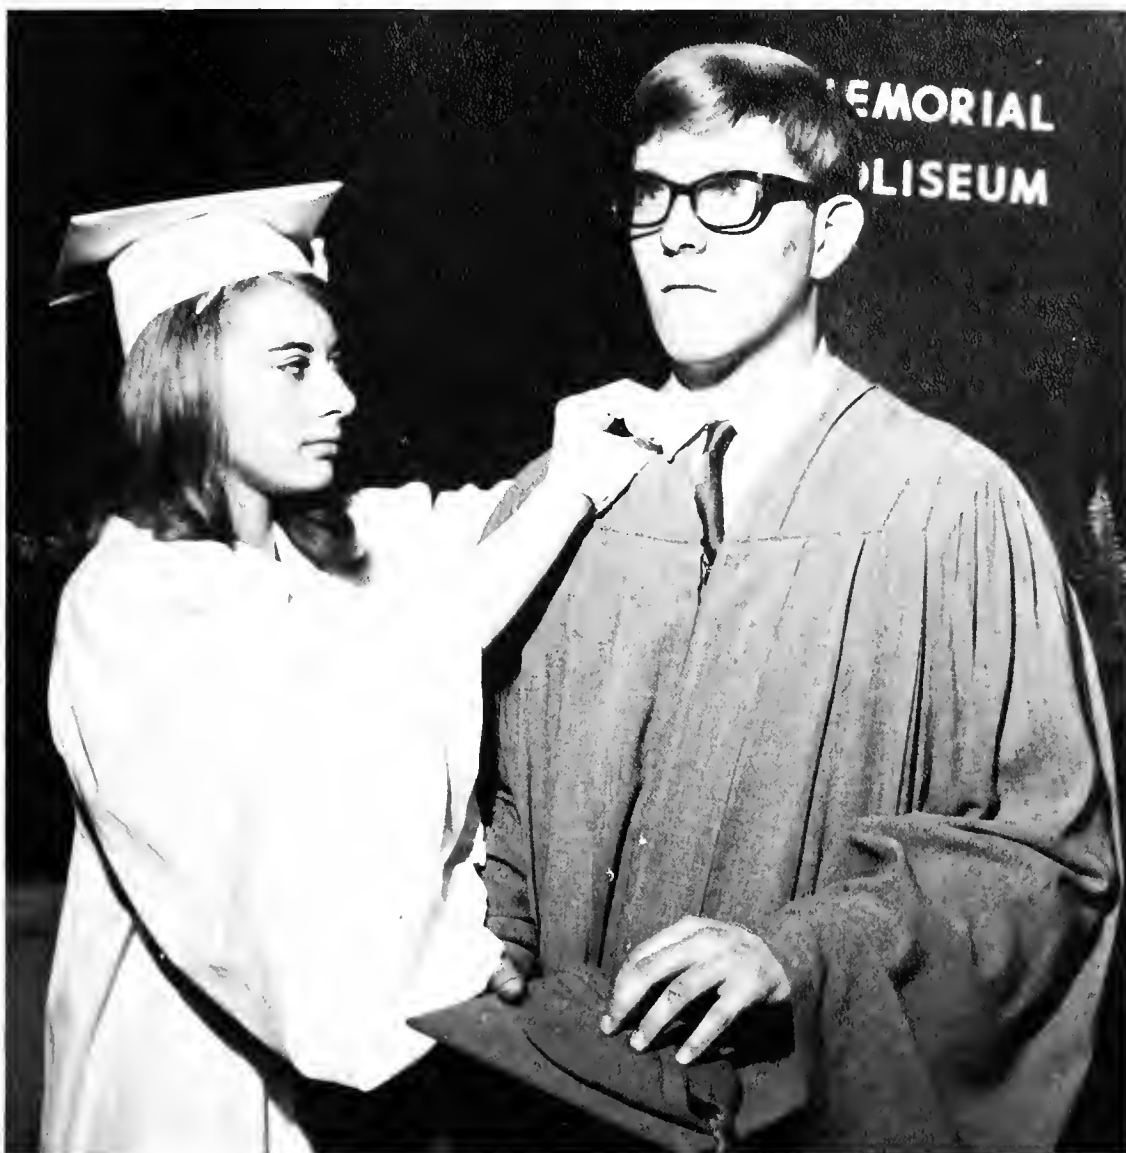

The lights dim. . .

and these days fade into yesterday, and the good times we've had
are memories,
and they are like a once fresh rose . . .
sprinkled with the dew of early morning sunlight, and laughter, and tears, and success and failure of another time past.

It's the end of the beginning, but there are new stars in the skies—
one for each of us to cling to—to breathe on it a glimmer of hope, and faith, and dreams.

Someday we will return to these early morning sunlit days, and walk again the petal-strewn path of that once fresh rose . . .

CC Presents Absurd Plays

CC's own dramatic talent was brought forth through the annual Fall Play.

This year's presentation consisted of three one-act plays from the theatre of the absurd.

Under the direction of Mr. Alois Buchheit the actors portrayed perfectly the characters of their roles.

Hidden within the script were deep meaningful messages. These were easily clarified by the performers.

Selection for this season were "The Shiny Red Ball", in which two salesmen try to outdo each other.

"The Black Box" illustrated how gullible some people are.

Concluding the group was "Picnic on a Battlefield". An anti-war theme was accomplished by playing an exaggerated war game.

Serving as technical director was Mr. Tierney and assisting him was Mr. Blackburn.

Andy Marciniak loses his hand as the "Black Box" begins to win her fight with him. Don Smith and Mike Bangert take a curtain call after "The Shiny Red Ball", and at the right Mary Beth Imler makes up Michele Brewer.

Laughing over a good joke are Margie Rosswurm and Charlie Steinou, voted Most Courteous, and Julie Maher and Dave Bierbaum, elected Most Cooperative.

Dance Bands Swing Out

Two dance bands were in full swing this year in the Music Department. These groups worked under the direction of Mr. Joseph Woods, and appeared in contests and band competitions.

The Christmas Concert this year was considered one of the finest ever given, in the opinion of many. Besides the feature numbers performed by members of the band, a new attraction was added.

A combined chorus of students and faculty members raised voices with the string orchestra to sing the Alleluia Chorus from Handel's "Messiah".

All performances by the Music Department witnessed an increase of attendance this year. This has been attributed to the excellence of the productions.

CC Journalists Win Awards

The Publications Department had an extremely successful year, with Nancy Somers at the helm of the Shamrock and Michele Brewer as chief editor of the Echo.

Laurie Rainey and Earl Bercot, as feature editors, Dan Leffers and John Palmer as sports editors, and Kathy Behrns as news editor, led the newspaper staff. Many members of the journalism class worked into key positions, such as Debbie Marquardt and Mary Fran Welfle. Marsh Neuhaus and Sandy Runkle did layout.

Colleen Quinn was circulation manager, and Mike Bangert learned the ropes of advertising and business from managing editor Steve Kartholl.

Sister Joel, head of the Publications Department, was the adviser to the Shamrock staff, as well as being responsible for the CC yearbook, the Echo.

Michele Brewer was planner of the book, with Colleen Quinn doing much work as associate editor. Suzi Loomis was theme editor. Karen Roemke made sure copy was written.

Andy Marciniak was photography editor, with a big assist from Steve Kartholl and Brad Kumfer, dark room experts.

Backbones of the Shamrock and Echo staffs are photographers Steve Kartholl and Andy Marciniak. Andy served as photography editor for the paper and the yearbook, while Steve was managing editor of both publications.

Pep Runs High

Under the new leadership of Miss Donna Giere, the cheerleaders went through a good year.

The varsity cheerleaders this year were Linda Ranly, captain; Sue Coffee, Sharon Johnson, Lucy Avila, and Jodi Bigos.

Planning and arranging pep sessions, leading cheers and introducing new chants, plus upholding sportsmanship, are only a few of the many responsibilities that the cheerleaders receive with their positions.

Cheerleaders were chosen again this year on the basis of school spirit, ability, and leadership qualities.

New uniforms were secured for this year's cheerleading squad.

Under Chris CC Pep Club Takes Strides

CC's Pep Club is an organization which encourages the mighty Fighting Irish Spirit."

Membership mainly consists of the more enthusiastic girls in the student body, but this year things changed, as the boys joined in. They worked in forming their own cheer block. A section was reserved for them at all the games. Together the girls and the boys produced a loud, tremendous sound.

Finally, the old, out-dated purple collars were cut up and used to decorate new gold vests. By making new uniforms, the participation was greatly increased.

Under the direction of Miss Giere and Chris Motherwell, Pep Club president, the girls cooperated with the cheerleaders by learning words and motions to the cheers most frequently performed.

By the end of the season, "precision" was the key word in all pre-game, and game demonstrations.

Kathe Knopp was the Clancy during football season, while Colleen Quinn donned the green during basketball season.

Pictured above are the City Council and school officers of the Red Cross. Seated, left to right, Mary Frances Welfle, vice-president; Chris Motherwell, president; Carol Shaffer, secretary. Standing Sister Therese Michele, moderator; Margaret Rosswurm, representative for the Mayor's Youth Council; Rita Snyder, president of the City Council; Marsha Shaffer, secretary of the City Council and Jim Geary, treasurer.

Central Catholic's Red Cross Chapter was headed this year by Chris Motherwell, President; Mary Frances Welfle, Vice-President; Carol Shaffer, Secretary; and Jim Geary, Treasurer, and Sister Therese Michele, moderator for the organization. The group of selected homeroom representatives met with the officers once a month to discuss the activities being planned.

During the past year many projects have been open for all interested students to lend a hand. Among these were the combined Talent Show and Christmas Party held at Veteran's Hospital on Dec. 3 and also, a carnival held on Feb. 4 at the hospital where C.C. students operated a booth. Blood donor drives were conducted with such rewards, as a dance given, the admission being a new blood donor; a traveling trophy presented and a free car wash, held in the spring for those signing up to give blood.

Throughout the year with the co-operation and generosity of C.C. students, the Red Cross has had another successful year. Thus fulfilling its purpose of helping the community and the world's needy.

Sister Roberta Guides DOM

The Daughters of Mary was organized to give praise and honor to the Blessed Virgin Mary through the efforts of all its members. By performing spiritual and corporal works of mercy the girls reached their goal.

Under the supervision of Sister Mary Roberta, S.S.N.D., this group annually helps in educating students at St. Mary's.

Above all, the girls enjoy such activities as giving parties at St. Mary's and St. Vincent's Villa.

An entirely new project, started this past year, was to supply cookies for the children at St. Mary's daily. The girls were quite generous and eager to donate. Many signed up far in advance.

At the end of each year the Daughters of Mary join together for a social evening.

Colleen Quinn Becomes Head of CSMC

The Christian Students' Mission Crusade has benefited greatly under their new moderator, Sister Ann Colette. As the saying goes, "Seeing is believing," and Sister has seen the hardships of others during her twenty-one years of missionary work in Taiwan.

Conveying her experiences to the students she aroused a deep concern for the Missions.

A thorough discussion on the meaning of "Mission" served as a basis for further projects. One of which was sponsoring families for Christmas in association with the Christmas Bureau.

The regular bi-weekly collections served to help missionaries here at home and abroad. Many thanks were received for these donations which are used to feed, clothe, cure, and educate the unfortunate.

Through the efforts of the home-room representatives and the officers the Mission Club has worked with the entire student body to bring about the understanding of our mission.

Meetings were periodically held in order to keep the Mission desire, that Irish spirit, alive.

Human Relations officers meet with Sister Vincent Marie, club moderator. They are Pat Glasch, Dave Bierbaum, Diane Woods, and Gwen Singleton.

CC Group Stresses Fellowship

The Human Relations Council is a recent outgrowth of the Student Spiritual Council.

Dave Bierbaum was the chairman of the organization this year, with Gwen Singleton acting as co-chairman.

Diane Woods was the corresponding secretary, and Pat Glasch was recording secretary.

The group, under the guidance of Sister Vincent Marie, initiated several programs of tutoring and neighborhood aid.

Another project was sending a visiting panel of CC students into home-rooms, discussing inter-racial problems and how to cope with them on the high school, city, and national level.

The Human Relations Council has become one of the most active and important groups functioning at Central Catholic.

Cindy Murray Leads Student Spiritual Council

Members of the Student Spiritual Council have chosen these students as officers. Jadi Bigos is vice-president, Sandy Runkle is treasurer, Ann Ramsey is secretary, and Cindy Murray is the president. Standing is Sister Vincent Marie, club moderator.

SSC Members Branch Out

Youth Council members are Rita Snyder, Mike Bangert, Mary Beth Geary, and Chris Motherwell.

The Student Spiritual Council has become new this past year. It accepted many responsibilities and carried them out efficiently.

One of the first changes was appointing Sister Vincent Marie as moderator. Secondly, the Human Relations Council has become a branch of the SSC and the duties of the former Veronica Guild were received by this organization.

Mass crews were set up to prepare for the students' Masses in the Clinton Room.

Spiritual bouquets were offered through the SSC to Sister Maureen Therese and Father Hammond on their feast days.

The SSC organized the Thanksgiving "food drive" to provide poor families in the area with a nice meal. Reacting generously the students made this project a success.

A spiritual bulletin board using themes of the month or Church year was enacted. This information center periodically renewed the spiritual aspect at CC.

The students were eager to compose their own prayers for the morning meditations. This marks the third year that the SSC has sponsored this program.

Debbie Plumb, Bev Carrion, Vivian Boyle, and Michele Brewer receive Communion from Father Hammond.

'We Are Your Bread Now; We Are Your Flesh'

This 1969 edition of the Echo contains many activities and shows many of the personalities which make Central Catholic High School what it is.

On these two pages, however, the real force behind the very idea of Catholic education and the reason for the existence of this school is shown.

Several times during the school year the principal, Father Hammond, sometimes assisted by other priests on the faculty, offered Mass with the faculty and members of the student body. The pictures on these two pages try to capture part of that CC spirit which is shown, not on the basketball floor, and not in the classroom. It is a deeper and more lasting spirit, the spirit of sincere people coming together to learn, to share, to worship together, and to receive.

From the last freshman in the back row to the senior down in the front row who is already planning future years, all members of the Central Catholic family share the same belief that God is God, and that it is not too late to make a newer world, as Bobby Kennedy advocated in the last political campaign of his life.

Father Robert Hammond offers the Eucharist at a Mass held in the CC gym.

Providing music at the Eucharistic Celebration are Debbie Marquardt, Sister Joel, Sister Ann Carita, Sister Andrew, and Tom Biesiada.

Chess Club Combines Concentration, Pleasure

That's all right; I'll still get you," John Palmer seems to be saying as Sister Andrew takes one of John's chess men in an after-school game.

Two more chess concentrators are Mike Koontz and Tim Nagel, both seniors.

Communications Council Reports to to SUNDAY VISITOR

Members of CC's Communications Council are Andy Marciniak, Dave Hueber, Mark Didrick, Tim Wagner, Mr. Buchheit, Margie Doetsch, Debbie Marquardt, Michele Brewer, Laurie Rainey, Pat Herber, and Don Smith.

Room 311 was the scene of the action in the Chess Club this year. The club, not an organization as such, is a group of students who enjoy getting together to play chess.

Andy Marciniak, the original chess whiz of CC, was chairman, while John B. Palmer III acted as co-chairman. Sister Andrew was the moderator of the group.

At certain times during the year tournaments were held. These contests often showed the progress of one player over another.

Many of the members felt stimulation of mind because of the deeply involved games which were slowly thought out.

The Communications Council was responsible for contributing articles to the youth section of the Sunday Visitor.

Mr. Alois Buchheit was also responsible for working on a film with several members of this group.

The Council, still a new organization at CC, is still in the process of developing; it promises to be even a greater help to CC next year.

Mr. Martin Tierney, director of the spring play, Seventeen, is shown getting Andy Marciniak ready for an earlier play, The Black Box.

Steve Karthall and Cliff Palubinsky prepare their audio-visual examination of conscience for retreat.

CC Retreat Changes

Under the direction of Father Hank Mascotte this year's retreat schedule was redone. Some seniors made retreat week-ends at the Crosier House. These proved to be very profitable.

The school retreat was visually oriented, and was called "Project Reflections". Two days of talks, films, discussion and meditation were undertaken by all the students, under the direction of Fr. John Murphy and Fr. E. J. Kersten.

CC Library Aids Research

The Library Club was off to a bright and shining start in their recently refurbished facilities. Filling the officers' roles were: Carol Farmer, president; Kothy Berger, secretary; Nancy Somers, vice-president, and Dianne Woods, treasurer.

The library assistants' main function was to give better service to students, which in turn improves library functions. The main purpose of the club is to enrich school curriculum through the use of library resources, which are modern and up to date.

Contrary to last year, small groups may now go in at the end of their study period. Also, while studying, one may hear soft music coming from the Stereo AM-FM radio, which Sister Mary Teresa acquired last Christmas.

The Library Club has hopes of starting a city-wide club with all high schools participating.

are Dione Woods, treasurer; Nancy Somers, vice-president; Carol Farmer, president, and Kothie Berger, secretary.

Snoopy Helps CDL Sales

Citizens for Decent Literature is an organization which promotes just that—decent literature. By initiating good reading through the bookmobile and hallmobile, the CDL has taken corrective measures against the bad material which penetrates our society these days.

Students who were eager to participate in the CDL worked under the supervision of Sister Ann Carita, the new moderator this past year.

The most important project of this group is the maintaining of a full supply of good reading matter.

Attendance at the National Convention which was held in Cincinnati interested many of the active members of this club.

Fighting the problem of indecent literature, changing it by supplying the right kind of material brought success to the CDL.

Standing around the Bookmobile are CDL members Beth Hamilton, Rita Snyder, Mary Beth Geary, Dove Bierbaum, Margie Imler, and Sister Ann Carita, moderator.

Projection Club Promotes Student Learning

Steve Papenbrock, Stan Huntington, Phil Wirtner and Joel Klein work with the opaque projector.

The Audio-Visual Club, supervised by Sister Mary Teresa, has provided CC with another year of loyal service. Leading the organization this year are co-ordinators Stan Huntington, senior; Phil Wertner, junior; Joel Kline, and Steve Papenbrock, The club does not have regular meetings, but holds small discussions in the library to talk over problems and new ideas.

This year a few changes have taken place in the club. The audio-visual materials have been centralized to the library where in the past year they were located in the second floor office. Also, improvements have been made in the educational media program by making materials available to all classes.

Some of the activities which the members have attended consist of a workshop last summer in Bloomington attended by Dave Gonzolez. Cliff Pobulinsky was asked to be a projectionist for an Open House at Bonsib Advertising on Nov. 3. Also, the group received a visit from an audio-visual specialist during the year to improve techniques.

ATHLETICS

And there was light. . .

That breathes and runs and flies,
and warms our bodies with new life
so that we may begin anew
in searching for the goal.
Winning isn't all the light of glory,
It's sweat and bleeding inside, and reaching as hard as you can,
to stretch and reach some more.
It's discipline, pushing yourself farther than you can bear to be pushed,
and as if that isn't enough,
it's willingness to lose over and over again,
and still come out fighting.
That is the real reward,
the real, gold light of victory.

CC Fighting Irish Romp Against Opponents

Coach Smiles Over Victories

Coach Brent Anderson's high powered Irish didn't win the City Championship, but concluded the school's best season since 1960 (8-1) with a 7-2 record, winning its last five games. This effort was also the best since the '60 club won its last eight.

It was a combination of teamwork, spirit and an all out effort on the part of the team members, which contributed to this tremendous season.

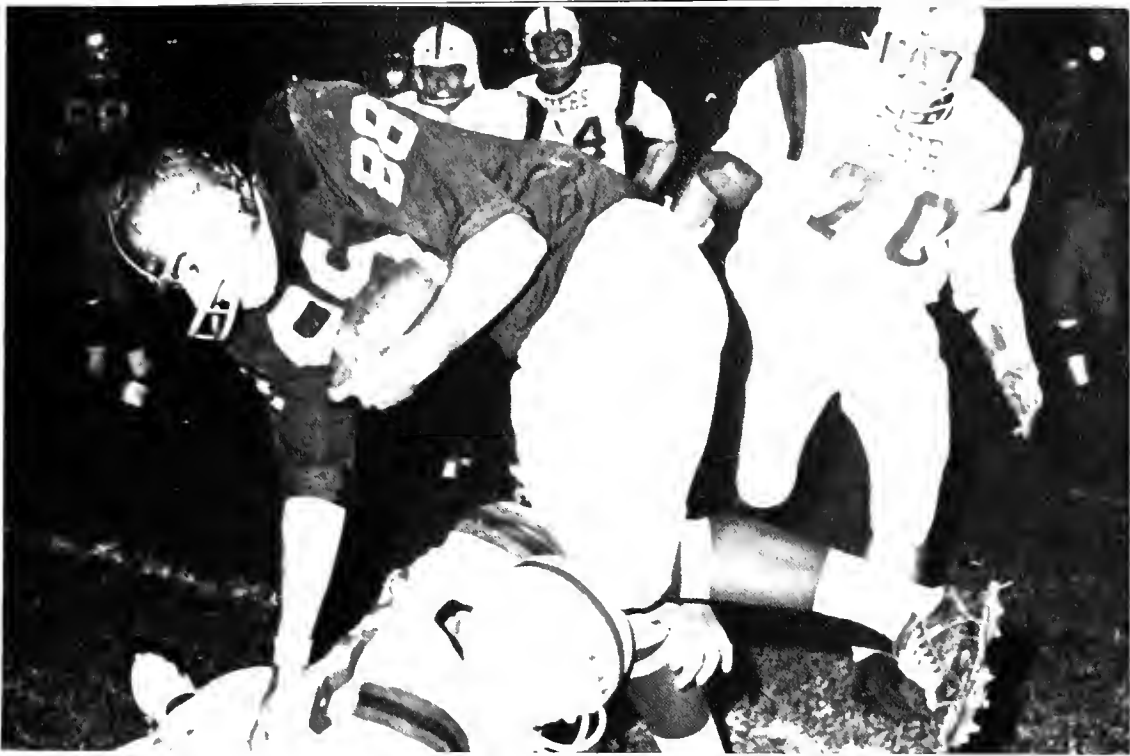

In their first contest, the Irish, ready and able, went out to crush the Concordia Cadets 32-0. The Snider game was a good example of the never-ending drive by the offensive team, as they pushed through the Panther line for a 55-6 victory.

South Side saw its winning streak snapped at six as the Irish, coming from behind, defeated the Archers 16-6 on their home field.

Statz, Zent, Friestroffer, Lead Irish

Six Fighting Irish were chosen for the 1968 All-City team. John Statz, Tom Friestroffer and Mike Zent made the first team, Tom Friestroffer making both offensive and defensive squads.

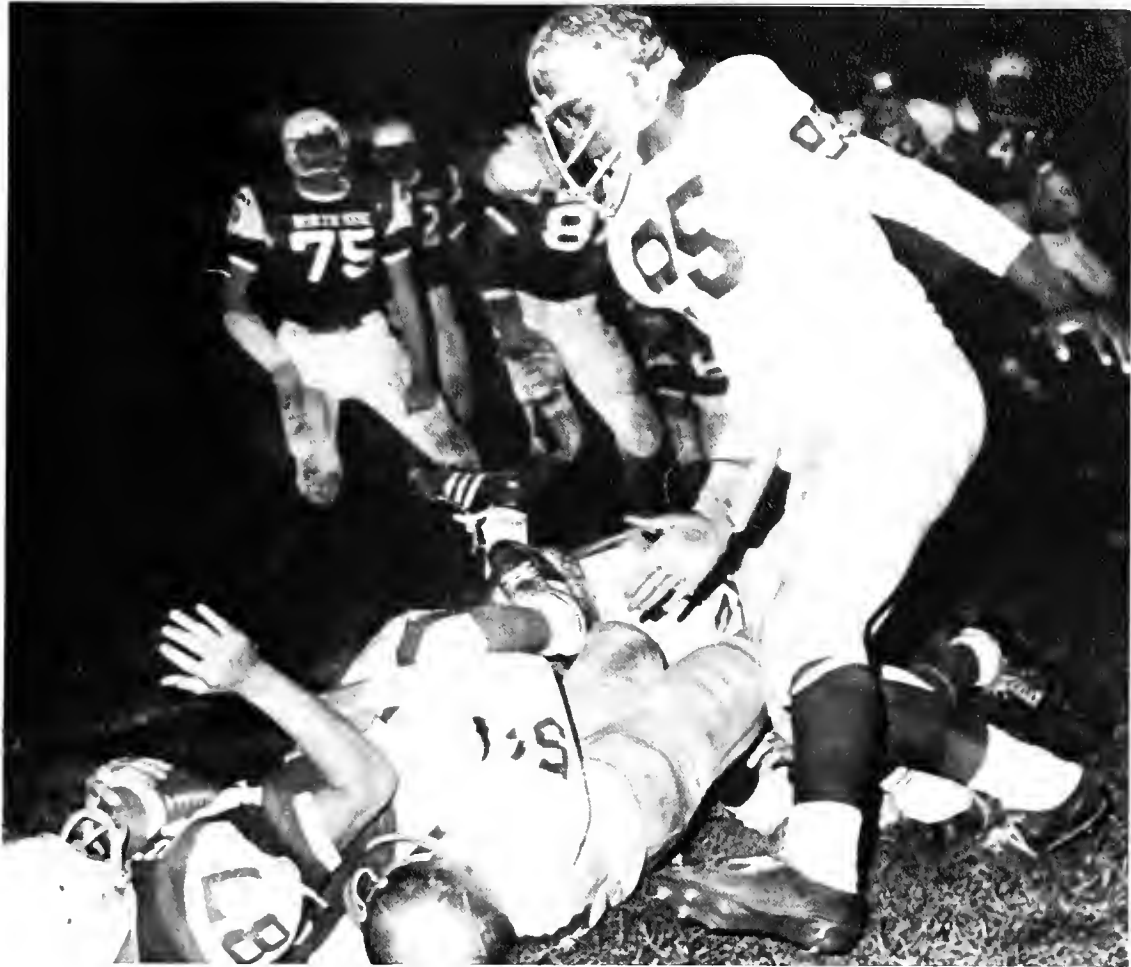

Senior men who made the Second Team in All-City ratings are Jim Kimes, Ron Lauer, and Steve Johns.

Besides the local honors, John Statz and Tom Friestroffer were given honorable mention on the All-State team.

Coach Brent Anderson mentioned often during the season how pleased he was with the fine performance of the players.

Plagued by Injuries

Reserve Team Shows Promise for Future

Checking plays with Coach Morris are Reserve captains, Rene Chavez and Larry Block, seated, and John Chacon and Tony Ortiz, standing.

By posting an impressive 4-1 record for the 1968 football season, the Central Catholic reserve team continued to give hope to CC fans for a strong future team to replace this year's fine varsity.

Coached by Mr. Edward Morris, the sophomore squad racked up 105 points in five games. The only loss was to Central by a close 19-13 score.

Plagued by injuries, the team fought on to defeat Elmhurst by a score of 38-6. South Side was the next victim, bowing to the CC squad, 20-13.

A close game against Bishop Dwenger saw the Irish pull it out, 7-0. This game was a bit of CC revenge against the north side rivals.

After the Central game, Central Catholic bounced back to defeat Bishop Luers, 27-7. By this time several key players were forced to the sidelines by injuries.

In speaking about the team, Coach Morris was high in praise of the team spirit shown by the boys. "The whole team worked well together," he said. "They even liked to run sprints after practice!"

John Chacon and Larry Block were offensive captains, while Tony Ortiz and Rene Chavez were defensive leaders.

Young Basketballers Keep Up Irish Fight ing: Joe Kleber, John Hake, Tam Bierman, Dave Surine, Mike Simone, John Tharpe, Jim McCutcheon, Kevin Boxberger, Tim Ward, and Dave Marris, Manager.

Mr. Edwards, Mr. Miller Direct Boys

The little Irish kept that fighting spirit alive on the hardwood during this past year. Their efforts proved to be quite successful as both the freshman and reserve teams had winning seasons.

Under the direction of Coach Miller, and because of his many years of experience, the freshmen progressed expertly.

Serving in the capacity of head coach of the reserve team is Mr. Dan Edwards. He brought his men one step closer to the ultimate—the varsity squad.

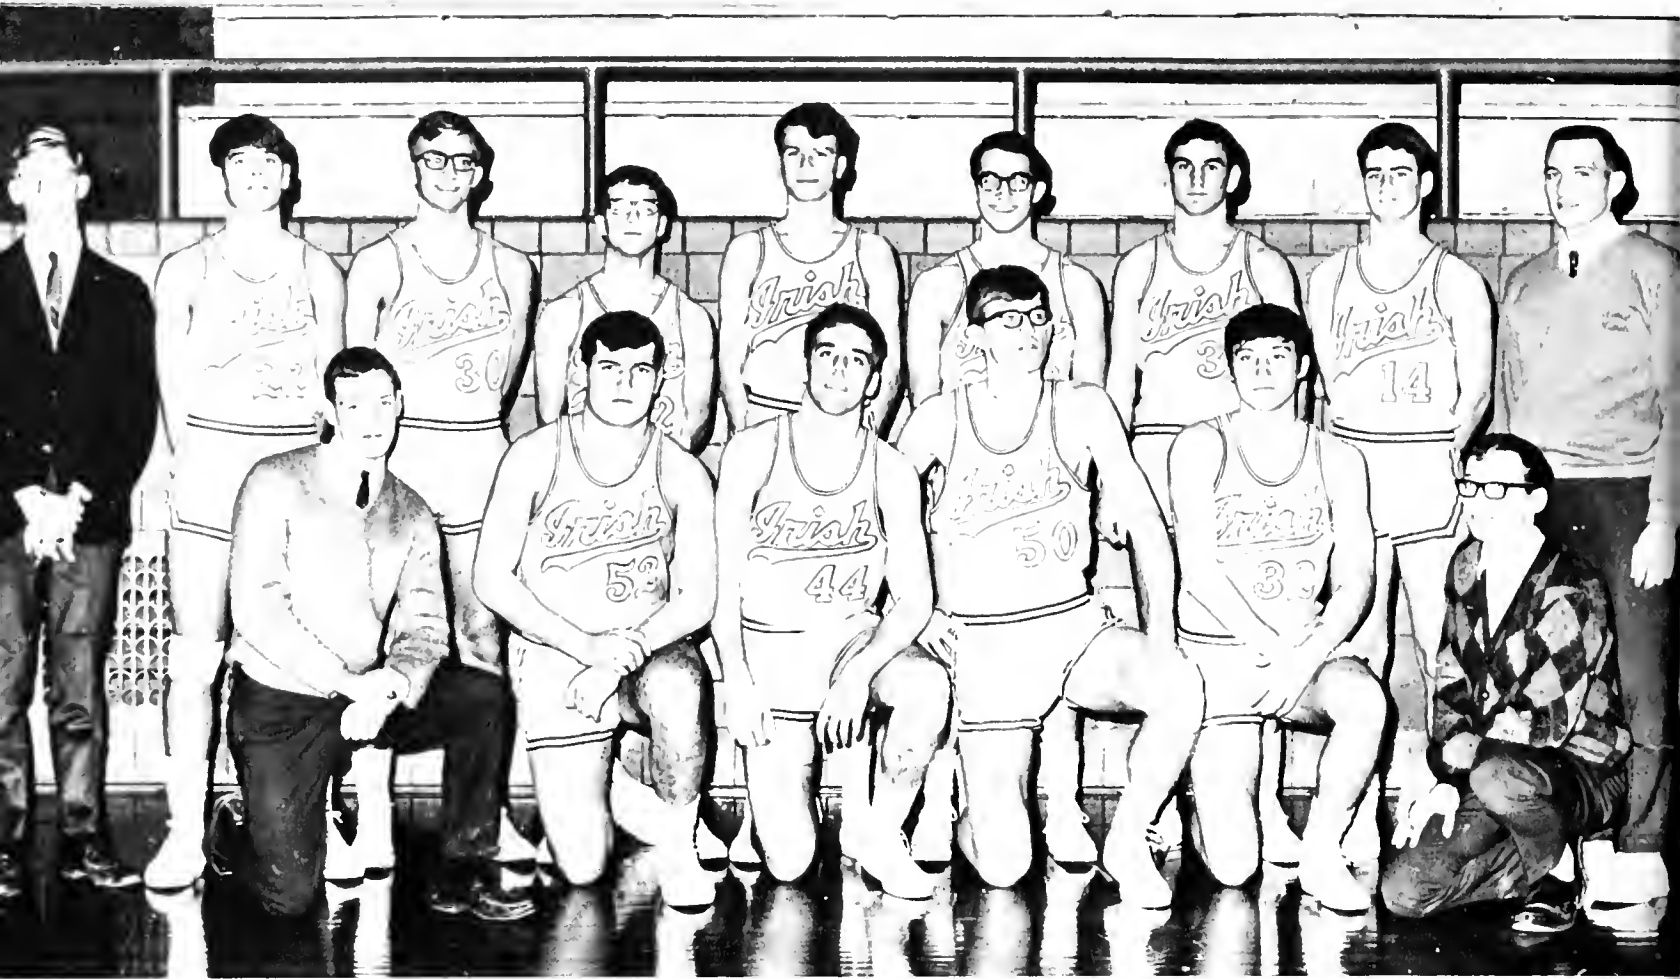

The high point of the season for both teams was their championships in their holiday tournaments.

The first round of the little Irish Invitational found CC matched against South Side. Upon defeating the Archers, the Irish moved into the championship game against archrival, Elmhurst. We came out on the better end of the score and thus sent the Trojans to their defeat.

"I think the reserve basketball team shows forth a tremendous amount of potential," stated Sister Joseph Helen.

Members of the Central Catholic Fighting Irish varsity for basketball for 1968-1969 are, kneeling: Steve Neuman, Tom Freistraffer, Tom Daehrman, Tom Roehling, Mark Recht, Bob Junk. Standing are Gary Gase, Paul Hayden, Louie Harber, Bill McAfee, Tim Kelker, Gary Franze, Steve Krouse, Marty Farrell, and Coach Leon Youngpeter, Coach Dan Edwards assisted Mr. Youngpeter.

Youngpeter's Men Rack Up Winning Season

The 1968-69 campaign proved to be successful for CC's basketball team, as the Irish finished well in city standings, and earned statewide recognition early in the season.

Led by coach Leon Youngpeter, the roundballers began by winning six consecutive contests. Skidding, they lost five of their next eleven games.

The Irish five lost their first game to a tough-lining Lima CC squad. After defeating Mishawaka Marian, CC entered the Irish Tourney. They defeated South Side 69-40, but lost to the Elmhurst Trojans 65-62 in the championship game.

The Irish, still undefeated in the city race, soon lost to North Side. The squad then defeated Columbia City and Elkhart, before losing to Elmhurst. CC defeated Luers, and then traveled to St. Joe South Bend, where they handed the Indians their second loss of the season.

Tom Roehling finished second in the city scoring race with a 25 point average. Tom also made the All City squad in post-season balloting. Tom Doehrman, Paul Hayden and Steve Krouse all finished the season with 10 point averages.

Tom Freistraffer, Coach Youngpeter, and Father Tirabassi watch a CC barnburner. At the right Coach Youngpeter exults in another CC basket.

mighty Trojans of Elmhurst, and Central. For more sectional and regional coverage see pages 174-177.

Roger Craney streaks into the record books.

Coach Youngpeter congratulates Roger Craney for setting new Cross Country records.

Craney Rewrites Record Book

Led by senior Roger Craney, the 1968 cross country squad finished a close second in the All Diocesan meet, ran fifth once and fourth twice in city contests, and made a remarkable showing in the sectional.

The team collected victories over Luers, Central, Carroll, Huntington Catholic, and Concordia.

Out in front of the pack was Craney, who broke the school record twice this year with runs of 10:05 and 10:11. Hot on Roger's heels are Pat Purdy, Dan Leffers, Tim Kelker, and Matt Leffers.

Coach Leon Youngpeter has commented, "This year's cross country team is the best CC has ever fielded", but he expects an even better season next year.

Displaying their team enthusiasm and ability are Cross Country members. Row One: John Herber, Keith Baboy, Matt Leffers, Larry Miller, and Bob

CC Track Team Hurdles Through Season

Strength and endurance evident, track members Steve Hensinger, left and Frank Todoran, right jog onward.

... and John Stotz, keeping his balance, has a skid landing as he performs the long jump.

This years track team is a rather young and inexperienced squad with twelve seniors, eighteen juniors, thirty sophomores and twenty freshmen reporting.

Some members of the team who starred are Roger Craney, school record holder in the 880, Tom McCutcheon in the 100 yard dash, Al Frisinger in hurdles, Steve Biesiadia in high jump, John Statz 440, Frank Todoran and Steve Hensinger in 220, and Dave Fleckinstein in pole vault. The team will run fifteen big meets this year, including such strong foes as Bishop Dwenger, South Adams, Bellmont, Snider, Bishop Luers, Meritage, East Side, and Woodlan. They also participated in the South Adams and North Side Relays, the All-Parochial meet, and the track sectional.

The cindermen concluded one of their best seasons in years with many sophomores showing even greater promise for the future.

As Al Frisinger, senior, and veteran hurdler said, "The track team displayed remarkable determination and spirit in a very successful season." Mr. Morris was the coach.

Second Year of Swimming Sees Progress

The swim team had a promising season this year. The team, composed of juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, is looking forward to next season.

Mr. Ed Morris was head coach in charge of swimming. His assistant was Jay Snider, who also was in charge of the diving team.

All members of the team feel they have gained invaluable experience this past season. Team captain John Horn thinks "We had a good season this year, and we hope to do even better next year."

The team hopes to use this year's experience to put together a winning season next time CC'ers hit the water.

Mark Derheimer comes up for air after a long swim.

The Central Catholic intramural wrestling squad began working out Nov. 7. The group consisted of 12 weight classes.

Under the direction of Coach Ed Morris, competition was open to all boys who attend CC. Practice sessions were held on several nights each week, with boys from different weight classes working out on special nights.

Later in the year a tournament was held. All boys who participated in the intramural competition were eligible for the tourney.

Award ribbons were given to boys who finished in the first three places in each weight class.

In discussing the tournament, Mr. Morris explained, "All contestants knew the basic rules and holds of wrestling. Good conditioning and safety rules are always the biggest things we stress."

Boys who participated in the wrestling program were enthusiastic about the workouts, and about the experience they were getting under the leadership of Mr. Morris.

Mr. Morris demonstrates a hold as Aaron Singleton looks on. Standing are Steve Sample, Tom Wells, Larry Budenz, Tom Biesiada, and Morris Taylor, first row, and Chuck Statz, Jim Kimes, Jackie Robinson, and John Kimes, second row.

CC Team Hits Local Links

C.C. linksters coached by Mr. Youngpeter, are hitting that dimpled ball long and straight down the fair-way in their bid to regain the city title won in '67.

In the first picture below senior Tim Derloshon shows how he starts his golf swing. Tim, not a big person, utilizes his agility in giving the ball a good lick.

Senior, Andy Marciniak, is in the next phase of the swing demonstrating his style in performing the back-swing. Big Brad Kumfer, a senior, is shown generating power in the down-swing just before contact with the ball.

Sophomore Sam Till, on the next page, shown at the most crucial time of the golf swing. At this point in the swing, the golfer, with all the timing and balance he can manage, and with all his strength and agility, contacts the ball. Sophomore, Rick Kumfer, demonstrates in the next picture his technique just after hitting the ball.

CC Netters Show Spirit

Central Catholic's tennis team, under the leadership of Coach Paul Miller, put out a limitless amount of energy and spirit during the '68-'69 season.

The team was composed of five juniors and one sophomore, so that next year's squad will have experience.

The record of 7-1 does not show the hard work and fight which the members of the team put out.

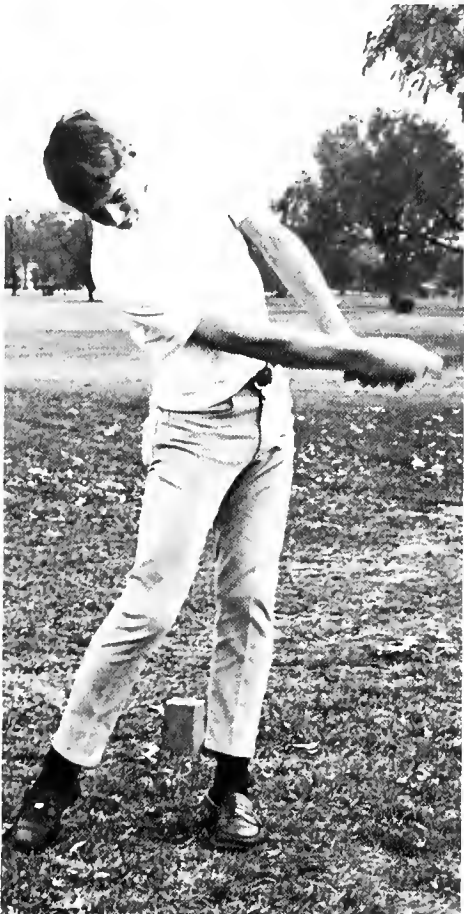

Under the direction of Coach Miller on this year's squad were Jim Broucek, the team captain, and Ralph Wells, John Horn, Randy Lauer, Ron Firks, and Tony Gensic.

Members of the team practiced on several courts throughout the city of Fort Wayne. Coach Miller discussed techniques with them, and demonstrated different types of swings and methods of returning the ball.

The season was not the best in Central Catholic history, but strong determination and hope for next year have given the boys on the team renewed effort and enthusiasm.

CC's tennis team was composed of Bill Daugherty, Jim Broucek, captain, and Tony Gensic, in the front row. Others are Ralph Wells, John Horn, Ron Firks, and Randy Lauer.

GAA Records Great Year

The Central Catholic GAA, under its moderator Miss Heighway, enjoyed one of its most successful years during 1968-69. Under the leadership of president Jane Doetsch and vice-president Colleen Quinn, the organization maintained its objectives of developing interest and ability in sports as well as promoting good sportsmanship, teamwork, and friendship.

Acting as treasurer was Becky Johnson while Margie Imler served as Sophomore and Junior Point Secretary with Irene Charais as Freshman and Senior Point Secretary.

McMillen Park was the site of their Get Acquainted Wiener Roast and Dance on October 1 with a turn out of 250. On the first day of Teachers Institute, they had the annual hike to Franke Park with approximately 100 present.

Other various activities were a Swim Party on November 11, and a Volleyball Tourney on November 19, 20, and 21.

Tom Freistroffer, All-State tackle, brought much honor to the CC 1968-69 Football team.

Freistroffer, Roehling, Star

Two young men who helped put CC on the sports map this year were Tom Freistroffer, who gained much of his glory on the gridiron, and Tom Roehling, star center for the Fighting Irish basketball team.

Tom Freistroffer was named to both offensive and defensive All-City football squads. He was also chosen to the All-State Squad by United Press International, and to another squad named by the Bloomington Daily Herald-Telephone.

Tom Roehling, everybody's choice for All-City center, led the Irish B-Ballers to another winning season. Famous for his tremendous shooting ability and calm under pressure, Tom thrilled CC fans many times throughout the season, one memorable occasion being the winning basket in a barn-burner of a game with Dwenger.

And there was light. . .

a constant companion,
steady and glowing
and ready to be there, shining above reality and consistently a way to look up, the light of human warmth and depth, molding friendships from only sparks,
finding underneath the surface of a roughly polished reason,
something richer and more powerful than all of mankind itself . . .
a human being, a real person.

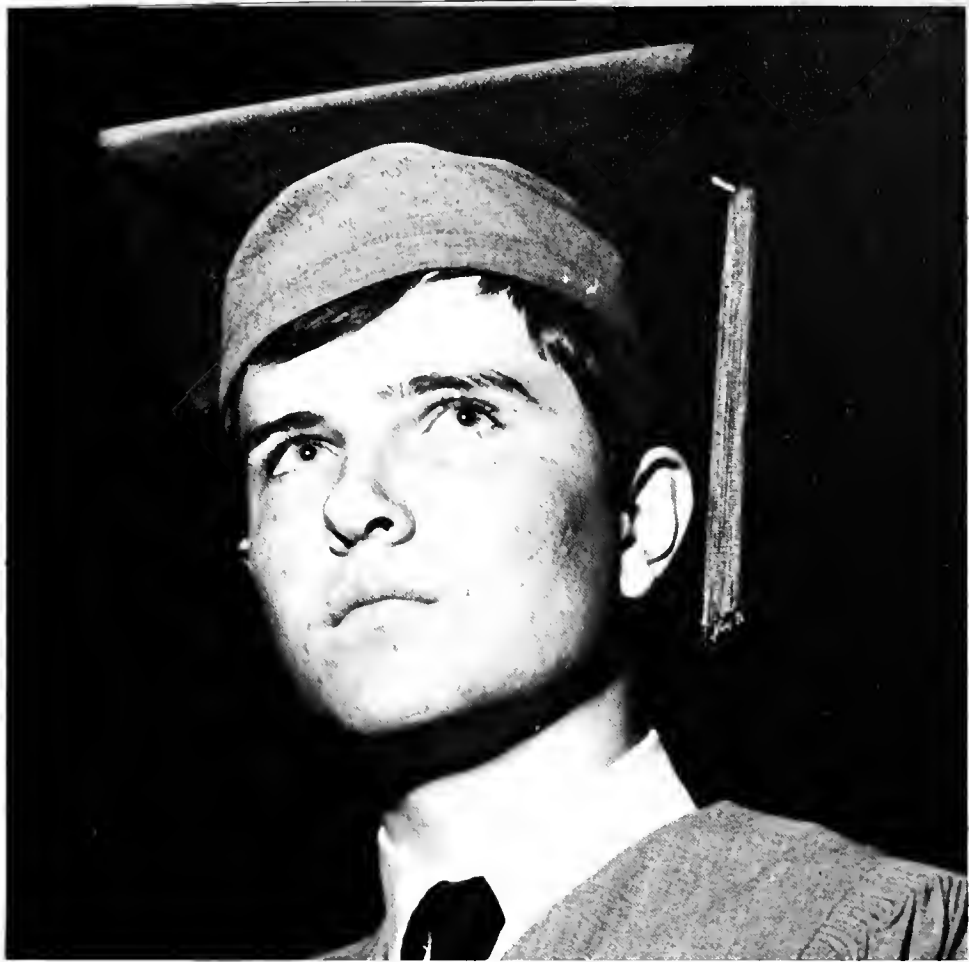

Class of '69 Follows Steinau, Marciniak

Seniors feel that their class's main contribution to CC has been the organization and formation of the Student Council.

One of the Student Council's jobs was to replace the Senior Senate. This year thirteen seniors were elected to the Council. Charlie Steinau was president, and Dave Bierbaum was social chairman. Marsha Shaffer, Mike O'Connor, Margie Rosswurm, Mark Didrick, Jeannie Soo, Tom Doehrman, and Kathe Knopp were homeroom representatives.

Other members of the Council were '69 class officers, pictured on the opposite page. They are Andy Marciniak, president; Russ Miller, vice-president; Julie Maher, secretary, and Marsha Neuhaus, treasurer.

Sister Francis Michael gave her guiding influence and encouragement to these senior leaders.

Smith Chosen Class Prexy

Drive and ambition were the key words for the Class of '70 in their strive for the goal they achieved, an outstanding class.

In cooperation with the class moderator, Mr. Martin Tierney, the class officers helped in making the junior class a vital part in the life at CC. They are Don Smith, president; Mike Ward, vice-president; Vickey Betts, secretary, and Cathy Craighead, treasurer.

Talents of all kinds could be credited to the Class of '70, especially in the field of sports. Art, along with scholastic ability, were other characteristics.

Among the five members of the Homecoming court were two juniors, Sharon Johnson and Cathy Craighead.

It's quite obvious that the very existence of the Class of '70 made Central Catholic "a nice place to visit."

Don Smith can be credited with bringing his class to a new high in their history at this downtown school.

Junior power helps liven up the South Side pep session.

Mel Johnson Leads Sophs

Moving into their second year at Central Catholic, the members of the Sophomore Class took over in a number of places and proved they were loyal and true CC'ers.

Led by Mel Johnson, the Sophs took key places in many school organizations. Other class officers pictured on the opposite page are Ralph Banasiak, vice-president; Carole Shaffer, secretary; and Rosanne Freistrotfer, treasurer.

Sophomore spirit showed up at the reserve games, and throughout the school year during the candy drive and the Echo advertising drive.

Acting as class moderatar for the sophomores this year was Mr. Robert Murphy, English teacher and home-room teacher in Room 311. His busy schedule did not keep him from helping the students who were in his charge.

The reserve cheerleaders for the sophs were Vickie Gentile, Pam Gentile, Laura Megles and Sue Ann Todoran. Their spirit did much to spark the rest of their classmates.

Twins Elected to Top Posts

When the Class of '72 entered the doors of Central Catholic, CC gained another group of enthusiastic and spirited high schoolers.

Marvin Billingsley was chosen to lead his class. As president he promised to help solve many of the problems the freshmen were facing. He is a product of St. Mary's School.

Melvin, Marvin's brother, polled the next highest number of votes to become the class vice-president. He was active on both the football and the basketball teams.

Sue Thorne, a freshman cheerleader, and originally chosen to be a student council representative from her room, is the secretary.

Joe Avila, another member of the freshman football team, was elected to be the treasurer of his class. He presided over freshman funds.

Acting as moderator for the frosh was Sister Ann Carita, who was in her third year as a member of the CC faculty.

The morning is bright as it diffuses through the windows and reflects on marred desks in the now empty classrooms.
Echoes of student shuffling through the halls,
the usual chaos and confusion
muffle the easily-recognized peals of laughter, or the quiet thought of someone lost in it all together

We dreamed and remembered and laughed and cried and sang and prayed and lived and grew in these halls, through these years and together
we'll sit in a park on a silent spring day, and listen to our memories as the bells chime behind us.

Know that this is real, and to be believed in,
and then, if we go our own ways,
we'll be better for knowing that we have found our own answers
together ...
Thanks, CC.

THE MOON and beyond

Bright, new horizons await today's students . . . new technologies . . . new advancements on all fronts . . . even the moon and whatever lies beyond.

How far you go in this space age depends partly on your imagination but primarily on your education and training. Conquering new horizons will demand more of today's graduates—more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our Free Enterprise system, with its high living standards, gives you an opportunity to "shoot for the moon" in any field. Whether or not your target is reached depends on how well trained you are to launch your career.

CC's Irish Retain Sectional Championship

Tom Roehling, Tom Doehmon and Caach Edwards celebrate the taste of another Sectional victory.

"Let me remind you that we are the defending sectional champions."

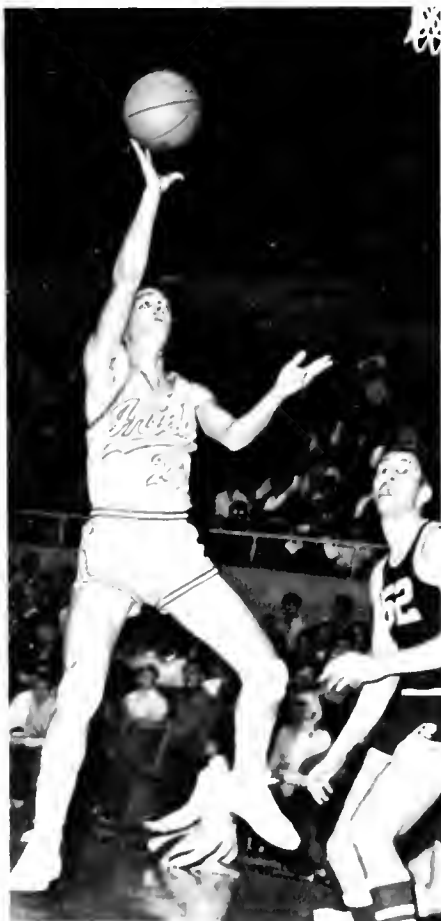

Caach Youngpeter's words went through everyone's mind as the Central Catholic Irish successfully defended their sectional title.

In what was supposed to be an easy win for CC, the Heritage Patriots came to within a Tom Doehrman jump shot of upsetting the favored Irish. CC turned back a quick initial period rally, but the Patriots were never far behind as CC was given a real thriller, indicated by the final score of 55-53.

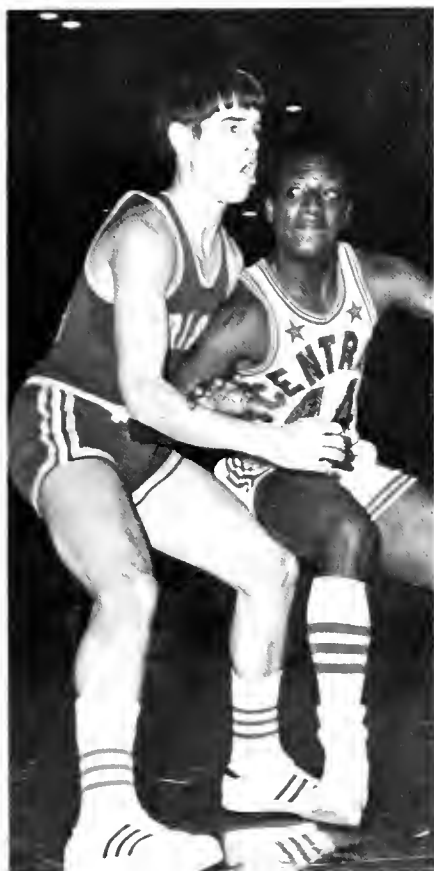

For the third time this year CC met Elmhurst's City champs and it proved to be a real charm for the Irish as they downed the heavily-favored Trojans, 51-50. It was a see-saw affair throughout the game as both teams stressed defense to such an extent that no points were scored during the final three minutes. As usual, the Irish were led by Tom Roehling, but Paul Hayden's quick hands and quarterbacking were felt during the entire game.

Central fell to CC in the championship game, 56-52. Gary Franze's free shots and Hayden's crucial steals iced the championship.

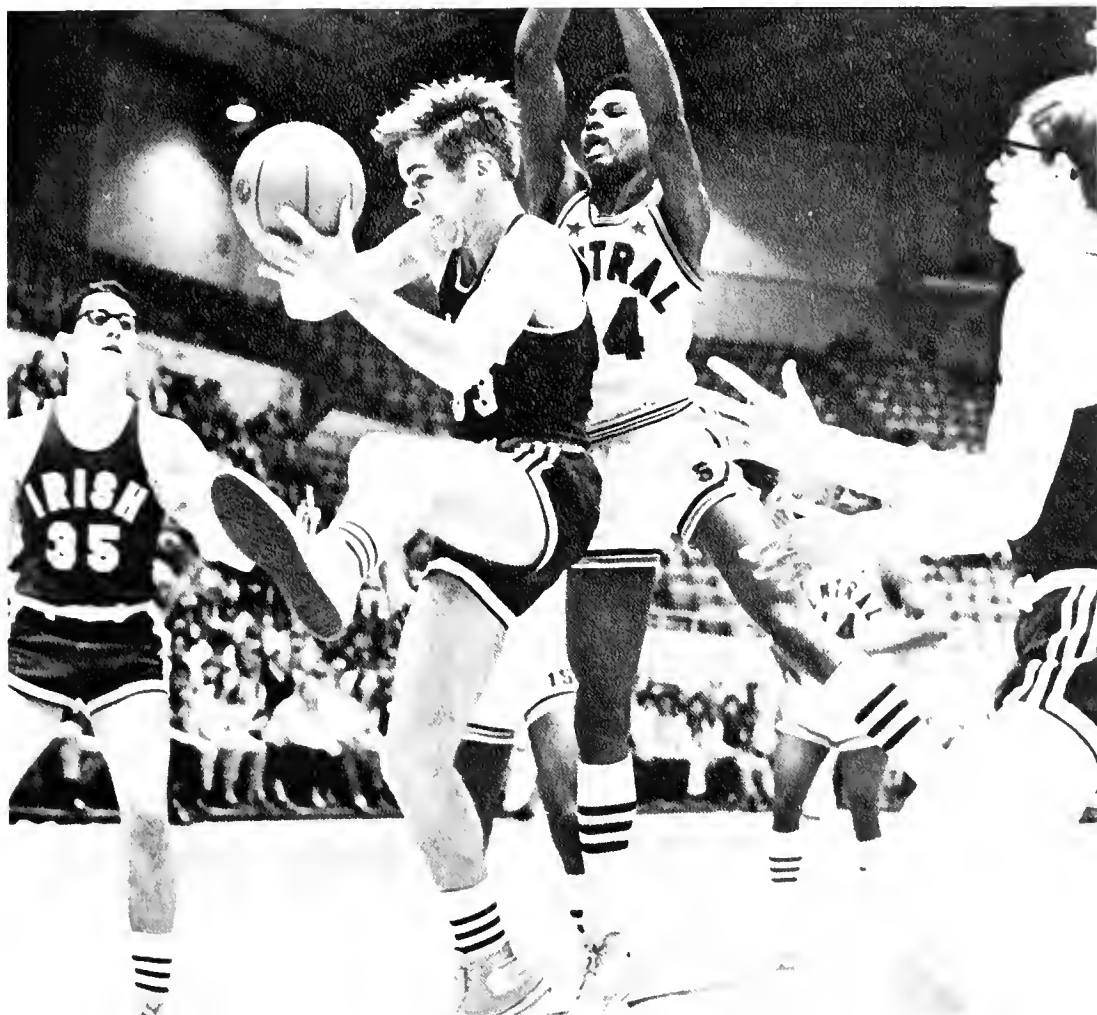

Both Roehling and Hayden were chosen to the News-Sentinel All-Sectional team.

Far left, Paul Hayden scores against Elmhurst's Steve Handy. Steve Krouse snags a rebound as Daehrman and Handy look on.

"Wait a minute," says Paul Hayden; "let me get under that basket!"

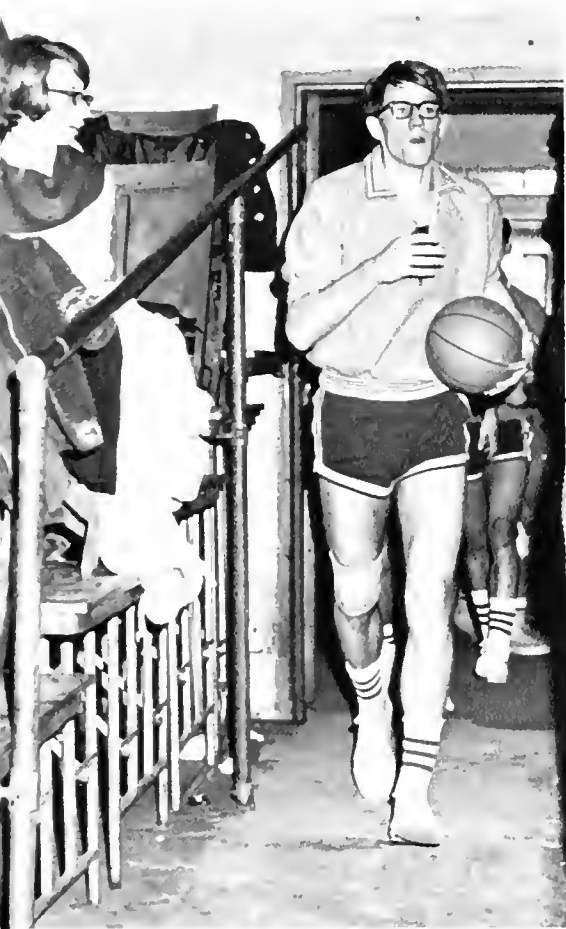

Tom Doehrman pulls down rebound against Central while Roehling and Franze stand ready to help.

Junk, Coach Edwards, Pat Purdy, Marty Farrell, Tom Doehrman, Steve Krause, Tim Kelker, Tom Freistroffer, Louie Harber, and CC's Coach of the Year, Mr. Leon Youngpeter!

Heritage, Elmhurst, Central Fall to Irish

We entered the arena, led by Big Tom Roehling . . .

. . . we fought and cheered, like Sharon Johnson . . .

. . . and we finished our battles in the triumph of cutting down the nets!

Irish Spirit Lives Through Regional

Big Tom Roehling led the Fighting Irish into regional play at Memorial Coliseum against the Fairfield Falcons.

In what sports writers called the finest game of his career, Tom scored 29 points, rebounded like a professional, and broke up many key plays to keep the Irish in contention during a hard-fought game. The Irish won, 68-59.

The championship game saw CC on the short end of a 73-54 score with North Side.

Coach Youngpeter's men could not overcome the deficit of a cold second period, but the spirit and enthusiasm of both players and fans proved that the spirit of Central Catholic is something that can never be defeated.

Paul Hayden closes in on a Fairfield play. Steve Krause tries a shot while Tom Roehling and North's Daug Brawn look on, above.

Calleen "Clancy" Quinn helps keep Irish spirit alive, above; while Sue Caffee registers the anguish of a losing score.

Light Passes on. . .

I weep not for the passing of these Days—
These roses, pink and lush,
some yellow-curled;
Mulberries, tart and new as the dawn's haze;
These honeysuckle walks
from world to world.

Fast as May rain my tears will cease to flow,
The sun again will waken, and presently,
This present will be gone,
and then will be now—
And I no more with you,
nor you with me.

It is not that these days
must pass—I cry,

But that they must mean
so little, by and by.

What though the radiance which was once so bright
Be now forever taken from my sight,
Though nothing can bring back the hour
Of splendor in the grass,
Of glory in the flower.

We will grieve not, rather find Strength in what remains behind.
